RIOTS RAGE AT FORD PLANT

DETROIT, April 2 (AP)—CIO strikers armed with wooden staves battled non-strikers wielding iron pipes and wrenches in the streets of suburban Dearborn today, resulting in more than a score of injuries and an order by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner for Michigan state police to restore peace in a strike at the Ford Motor Co.'s huge Rouge plant.

The Ford plant employes 85,000 hands and has defense orders amounting to $155,000,000.

Miles of pavement were littered with bricks and metal bolts hurled by the opposing factions as the CIO struck at the last non-union stronghold of the automobile industry. A flying brick knocked one mounted Dearborn policeman from his horse.

Union officials maintained a tight barricade of streets leading to the plant, and contended that operations at the factory had ceased, except for the maintenance workers the union permitted to enter the gates.

No statement was made by the Ford management on whether enough employes slipped past the pickets to resume production which was paralyzed when the strike began last night.

MANY GIVEN FIRST AID

Today's clashes centered at Gate 4 on Miller road, but isolated clashes broke out over an area extending several blocks away.

Between 30 and 40 strikers, the union reported, were treated at the emergency medical center established by the UAW-CIO near its Ford headquarters. The most seriously injured was Lawrence Ferrante, 25, stabbed in the back.

Most of the strikers bore bruises and cuts suffered in hand-to-hand fighting or from blows from metal objects and wooden clubs.

The Governor, maintaining close contact with the strike situation from headquarters in a Detroit hotel where he conferred with state police officials and state labor mediators, announced he was ordering the full available strength of the state police to attempt to end clashes between strikers and non-strikers.

State police were reported to have about 250 officers ready for service in the strike emergency.

100 POLICE ON DUTY

More than 100 Dearborn police, headed by Chief Carl A. Brooks, had been the only law enforcement officers active at the scene prior to the Governor's order for state police.

Officials of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) who called the strike shortly after midnight, charging "deliberate provocation" by the Ford management, claimed this morning that the strike was "completely effective."

The UAW-CIO Ford Organizing Committee offered, in a telegram to directors of the Office of Production Management in Washington, to send back to work in the Ford plant all its members needed for work on national defense orders.

The telegram informed William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman:

"If you can obtain the com-

BRITISH SEND SEAMEN TO U. S. FOR SHIPS

AN EAST CANADIAN PORT, April 2 (AP)—More than 150 seamen of Britain's merchant navy passed through here today enroute to United States ports for assignment to ships that will carry supplies for the Empire's war machine and home needs.

Speculation immediately arose in the United States ports as to whether the British seamen on the way here were coming to man the recently seized Axis and Danish ships in the event they are turned over to the British government.—Editor's note.

4 Killed in New Harlan Riot

HARLAN, Ky., April 2 (AP)—Four men were killed and five wounded today at the Crummies Creek Coal Co. mine in a new outbreak of disorder marked by gunfire in the Harlan County bituminous coal fields.

The shooting occurred as groups of United Mine Workers of America (CIO) members roamed about the county holding impromptu rallies at closed mines.

War Council and U. S. Representation Urged

LONDON, April 2 (INS)—Formation of an imperial war council with American representation such as was formed in the last war, was urged in the House of Lords today by Viscount Elibank, a Conservative.

Such a council, he said, could co-ordinate both the war effort and post-war reconstruction.

JAPS CLAIM 9000 SLAIN

SHANGHAI, April 2 (AP)—Japanese Army sources declared today their forces in northern Kianksi Province had smashed an attempted offensive by the Chinese in the past fortnight, with the latter leaving 9000 dead on the battlefield.

CIO Lists Five Demands on Ford

DETROIT, April 2 (INS)—UAW-CIO officials today listed a five-point plan for settlement of the strike which closed down the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. The points were:

1—Immediate reinstatement of all workers discharged because of union affiliation.

2—Wage increase of 10 cents an hour to bring wage rates of Ford workers up to rates employed by General Motors and Chrysler.

3—A seniority system to govern layoffs and rehiring.

4—A shop steward system to handle grievances as they arise.

5—Abolition of the company's so-called espionage system and the company service department.

1ST AIR RAID ALARM SOUNDED IN SLAV CITY

SKOPLJE, Yugoslavia, April 2 (AP)—An eight-minute air raid alarm was sounded shortly before noon at this key city of southern Serbia when three foreign planes reconnoitered at great height over the city.

During the night the city was blacked out for an hour and during early morning all air raid sirens were set off in test. These were practice measures.

But the alarm which came at 11:30 was the real thing. The population took cover calmly and waited until the planes disappeared.

"For all we know war may come to us any day this way," an official said.

Skoplje lies midway between Bulgaria and Albania in the Vardar river valley, which would offer a strategic route for a German attack on Greece.

Many believe the city will become the new seat of government if the Germans invade Yugoslavia.

Thousands of Croat soldiers are constantly passing through the town, singing lusty war songs. There is a steady stream of women and children from all parts of Yugoslavia, even from distant Adriatic Croatia, en route to hidden villages in the mountains.

Soldier husbands of the women say: "We can fight more calmly if we know our families are safe.

CIO, AFL Tie Up Buffalo Plant

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 2 (AP)—CIO and AFL workers stopped work today at the American Car & Foundry Co. pant, employing approximately 1400 on British orders for shels, and a mediation conference was arranged for later in the day.

An AFL spokesman said the plant also has contracts for 800,000 155-milimeter shells for the United States.

Thomas W. Scovona, president of the AFL local union, said the men walked out because the company was "not ivng up to its contract agreement" concerning the payment of time and one-half for overtime; had disregarded a promise not to reduce piece work rates and had violated seniority rights. He listed a union shop as another issue.

Carl W. Meier, executive committee member of the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, declared his union was seeking recognition and accused the AFL of violating its contract with the company when the men walked out.

U. S. Rejects Demand For Ships

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Hull today tacitly rejected German and Italian demands for release of Axis merchant ships taken into custody by the government.

Asked at his press conference whether there was any present intention of releasing the ships as demanded in the Axis notes of protest, Hull declared he had not heard of it in government quarters.

When the United States replies to the protest, Hull added, the State Department probably will take up with the German and Italian embassies the question of whether tr make public the exchanges.

TRAI AXIS AGENTS

United States intelligence services, it was learned, have concentrated their efforts on determining whether any German or Italian officials in this country instigated the wholesale sabotage which crippled most of the 30 Axis vessels seized in American ports during the week-end.

If the complicity of any diplomatic or consular officials should be established, informed sources said, the State Department is ready to take immediate action. The guilty officials will be handed their passports, or their prompt recall will be demanded.

CO-ORDINATED SABOTAGE

Officials said that preliminary evidence made it seem "very evident that there was co-ordinated direction of the widespread sabotage, but a formal pronouncement was withheld pending complete reports of inquiries by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Navy's intelligence service.

Elsewhere in the hemisphere, the story yesterday was one of seized, fired and scuttled Axis shipping; of crews in custody; of government investigations being pushed—with the threat of criminal prosecution in the background.

Since the weekend, 16 vessels have been taken into custody by Latin-American nations; 11 have been fired or scuttled, and two have taken flight. In some cases, the governments resorted to a sterner show of force than the United States.

'Other Woman' Due At Joss Murder Trial

BATH, Me., April 2—Fifty-one witnesses have been listed by the state in the slaying of Dr. Luverne Harris Joss, 38, at her Richmond home, it was revealed today by State Police Chief Henry P. Weaver.

However, only 15 of them will appear here Friday at a hearing on the murder warrant accusing her husband, Dr. Merrill Joss, 31, of the fatal bludgeoning.

Among these wil be a wealthy Richmond society matron, the alleged "other woman" in the case. Dr. Joss has steadily maintained his innocence.

Although authorities will not name her until she steps to the stand in municipal court, her identity is scarcely a secret in the Kennebec river town.

Wife of one of the town's leading business men, investigators pictured her as gay and attractive and a charming hostess noted for her frequent cocktail parties.

"Motivating factor" in the murder, according to Atty.-Gen. Frank Cowan, was a gradual cooling of the love between the two doctors, husband and wife. Police have been told that only a few days before she died, Dr. Joss told a friend "I am tired of being an unloved scientific experiment."

LOVE WANED, WORK GREW

Friends said the brilliant Mrs Joss threw herself always more energetically into her work among tubercular children as her husband's love waned.

Investigators reported that the accused Dr. Joss was usually a favorite attendant at the gay parties given by "the other woman." They also reported to superiors that they learned he kept secret trysts with her in Augusta and Richmond under the pretext that he was calling on patients.

But his wife found out about it, investigators reported, when it came time for her to send out bills for professional calls that "never were made."

Fourteen other persons, most of them neighbors and friends of the Josses, were summonsed to tell what they knew of relations between the doctor couple.

With a motive allegedly found, Chief Weaver sought to strengthen his case by removing in its entirety the cellar staircase on which Mrs. Joss was beaten to death.

The stairs, he said, trace the entire crime and give mute testimony how the woman died and how attempts were made to eradicate blood stains.

SHE KEEPS BEST FRIEND

Faced with the possible loss of her pet dog, Gypsy, because she couldn't raise his license fee within the time limit, Helen McGarrell, 12, of Jamaica Plain, visited Capt. Thomas Casey at Roxbury Crossing police station, told her story . . . and was granted a time extension. Now she's happy . . . because Capt. Casey also promised to help her raise money for license.

REVOLUTION IN ITALY GAINING, SAYS TENOR HOME FROM MILAN

MR. AND MRS. LOUIS VENA AND BABY, CATHERINE

The Italian people are "sick and tired of the war and their defeats," and are already in revolt against Mussolini, Louis Vena of Roxbury, young American tenor, declared today on arrival home after five years' study in Milan.

"The Italians are waiting to be liberated again," Vena said.

"They feel they were forced into the war by Germany before they were ready. They blame Germany for their losses.

"They are, to a certain extent, pro-British in their sympathies."

The revolt, Vena declared, is under the leadership of the King and Marshal Pietro Badoglio.

Badoglio, he said, has been in protective custody since he was forced to resign in December, but "still has the full support of the regular Italian Army, apart from the Fascist forces."

HATE FASCISTS

"The Italians want to see America enter the war because they believe that America will help them gain their freedom again.

"They hate the Fascists and are waiting for the right moment to overthrow them."

"The Italian students, members of the Fascist Party, who staged all the demonstrations in favor of war, are now the very soldiers who are deserting.

"Italy is sick of war. She has fought five wars now in a generation—the Libyan War, World War, Ethiopian War, Spanish War, and now this.

"The average Italian likes the French, and when Mussolini declared war on France, the Italians felt a knife had been plunged into their hearts."

Vena said that France and Spain are prostrate, starving. It will take Spain 25 years to get on her feet, he said. In Italy there is a half-pound of meat ration per week per person, and a half-pound of butter ration per month per person.

BADOGLIO IDOL

Vena said the Gestapo—German secvret police—is "very strong" in Italy and that the Italians are infuriated with the Germans who "are in the country in swarms."

According to the singer, Mussolini rescinded his order for general conscription because he feared that the people, supplied with arms, would overthrow his regime. Badoglio today is the idol of the regular army officers and "the one hope of the Italian people."

The big Caproni factories in Milan have not been hit by the British bombers, Vena said.

Vena is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernesto Vena of Roxbury. His wife was the former Anna T. McCarron, one-time Roxbury school teacher. With their 4-months-old daughter, Catherine, they are staying at the McCarron home on Tower st., Jamaica Plain.

SLAYER OF MILTON COP MUST GO TO CHAIR SOON

Revelation that the stay of execution of the death sentence against Joseph Leo Brooks, convicted slayer of Patrolman Edward F. Lee of Milton, had been revoked yesterday came today when the formal notice was received at State Prison.

The official notice was served on Warden Francis W. Lanagan by Sheriff Samuel Wragg of Norfolk County, the revocation being as of April 1.

Under the law, when a stay of execution is revoked against a prisoner convicted of a capital crime, he must go to the electric chair not before 20 days and not later than 30 days after the date of revocation.

Thus in the Milton slayer's case the date of execution would be somewhere between April 20 and 30, the warden setting the actual day.

As soon as he had received the notice, Warden Lanagan went to the cell of the condemned man in the Cherry Hill section of the prison and broke the news.

Brooks took it calmly, however, responding merely with a pleasant: "Thank you."

He has been at the prison since last Sept. 7, when he was under sentence to die on Oct. 20, exceptions taken to Supreme Court later bringing the delay.

Since he has been in State Prison it has been learned that his right name is Leo Rousseau and that his home is in New York.

He had no visitors while on trial at Dedham and lodged in Dedham jail, but after his identity was established he was visited at Charlestown by his mother and two sisters.

The last condemned man to occupy a cell in the Cherry Hill section was Oscar V. Bartolini of Quincy, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

Brooks, who shot Patrolman Lee fatally in front of Milton police station last May 16, after being arrested with two companions in a stolen car, has been under guard 24 hours a day since arriving at State Prison.

IN CHAIR'S SHADOW—Joseph Leo Brooks, slayer of Patrolman Edward F. Lee of Milton, today moved closer to the electric chair as a federal notice that his stay of execution had been revoked was sent to Charlestown prison. Brooks (center), is pictured entering prison in custody of Sheriff Samuel H. Wragg and Deputies J. L. Turner and Dell Hunter.

HE HAD GUILTY CONSCIENCE!

Massachusetts Supreme Court decided today, in effect, that a person may be guilty of operating a lottery even though he is not on the premises where evidence of a lottery is found, and where there is no direct evidence of his residence on the premises.

As a result Abraham Ehrlich of Columbia rd., Dorchester, must serve one month in the house of correction and pay a $200 fine.

The decision, written by Justice Louis S. Cox, was handed down in response to Ehrlich's appeal of a superior court judgment in which he was found guilty of operating a lottery on Columbia rd., Dorchester.

Police raided the premises on May 18, 1940, and seized 1142 number pool slips, writing pads and envelopes addressed to "A. Ehrlich" and "Abraham Ehrlich." No such person was found on the premises, however.

But when the case came up for trial in Dorchester court, Abraham Ehrlich voluntarily presented himself to plead not guilty to charges made in the complaint.

He was found guilty, appealed, and again was found guilty in superior court.

The decision today held that the fact he presented himself in court in the first place "evidenced a consciousness of participation in the acts charged in the complaint."

N. E. HEALTH GROUP OPENS HUB SESSIONS

Health problems arising from the draft, from the concentration of large numbers of men in cantonments, and for the public in general in the national defense program, highlighted the opening of the N. E. Health Institute in the Hotel Statler today.

Speakers at the 11th annual meeting, which continues through Friday afternoon, pointed out that the flux of population to small communities boomed by defense orders will create special problems in housing, sanitation, food and milk supply and care of mothers and children.

The United States now exceeds the combined chemical production of England, France, Germany, Italy, Russia and Japan, Harry B. Barnard of Columbus, Ohio, research director of the National Farm Chemurgic Council, told the Institute.

"We are now enering a new phase of chemical development, the chemurgic phase, the application of chemistry to industry," he said.

The New England section is among the leaders in the application of new uses for agricultural products, he added.

U. S. SURGEON-GENERAL HERE

Health departments of the New England States are represented at the session which has brought here Dr. Thomas Parran, U. S. surgeon-general; Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor, and other authorities on public health.

"Planning for Public Health Work in New England, in Relation to National Defense," was the subject of one of today's four meetings, at which Dr. Travis P. Burroughs, commissioner of the N. H. Health Department, was chairman. Speakers included Dr. William A. McIntosh of the Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Stanley H. Osborn, commissioner of the Connecticut Department of Health, and Dr. Harry S. Mustard of Columbia University.

DOCTORS SPEAK

"Crippled Children," "Food and Drugs" and "Health Education" were taken up in the other meetings at which the speakers were members of these agencies collaborating with the Institute: the U. S. Public Health Service, the Children's Bureau, the Department of Labor, the N. E. Tuberculosis Ass'n, the Massachusetts Public Health Ass'n and the Massachusetts Cantral Health Council.

Julius E. Warren, superintendent of the Newton schools, spoke on health education. Dr. Edward C. Merrill of Boston, formerly employed in the Food and Drug Administration, spoke on "Modern Trends in Medicinal Drugs." Dr. T. D. Jones and Dr. Paul L. Norton of Harvard Medical School spoke at the session on crippled children.

Dr. Parran and Miss Lenroot will speak at the public meeting tonight in the Hotel Bradford.

Back Home After Year Is Up, Woodruff Tells YD

Members of the Yankee Division today had the assurance of Maj.-Gen. James A. Woodruff that they would return to their homes after they completed their one year's military training at Camp Edwards.

Under present plans, a reserve division will be formed to replace the National Guardsmen called to the colors by the President, according to the First Corps Area commander.

Gen. Woodruff further said that 500 field officers, starting next month, will be given special training preparatory to having them train a new Yankee Division for replacements.

Meanwhile, officers at Camp Edwards were making plans to receive the 101st Observation Squadron, now at the National Guard armory in East Boston, which will be transferred within a few weeks when hangars for the planes are expected to be ready at the camp.

Army officials in Boston reported that a United States Army mobile unit, manned by a captain and two sergeants, was in Taunton today in a two weeks' recruiting drive.

G-Man Raps Landis Hearing on Bridges

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 2—The House Appropriations Committee today reported that Dean James Landis of Harvard Law School who conducted the first Harry Bridges deportation hearing, lacked authority to administer oath and, as a result, witnesses who "apparently committed perjury" cannot be prosecuted.

"The committee is not advised who is responsible for such a grossly inexcusable oversight, but whoever was responsible should be brought to account," the report said.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, first revealed the situation in testimony before a House appropriations subcommittee, released today. The subcommittee was considering the Department of Justice appropriation.

Hoover said that Landis was appointed a "contract labor examiner"—without authority to administer "oaths" he gave witnesses—instead of as an immigration inspector with proper authority.

CLEARED BRIDGES

Landis, who heard the government's case for deportation of Bridges, West Coast CIO maritime labor leader, in 1939, cleared Bridges. Bridges is on "trial" again in San Francisco.

The revelation brought immediate charges of a "frameup" in the first Bridges case. Landis was selected to try Bridges by Secretary of Labor Perkins after the Dies committee had demanded his deportation.

Hoover said that the investigation showed that "certain witnesses who had appeared in the first case had apparently committed perjury."

"What has been done looking to the prosecution of those individuals if they are guilty of perjury?" demanded Rep. Rabaut (D.) of Michigan.

"I recommended to the Attorney-General that steps be taken to prosecute for perjury," replied Hoover. "It was found upon inquiry that Mr. Landis did not have the necessary authority to administer oaths, although they were administered during the hearing. So that any person who testified during the first Bridges case did so under an oath that was administered without authority.

"I am advised that Dean Landis was appointed a contract labor examiner, and not an immigrant inspector. The United States code, Title 8, Section 153, gives an immigrant inspector power to administer oaths. There is no statutory provision, however, conferring on a contract labor examiner such authority."

Rep. Hare (D.) of South Carolina demanded to know who was responsible for the oversight. Hoover couldn't say.

"That seems to be an elementary proposition and looks like a willful oversight on the part of someone, Hare said.

"It means that practically the whole first proceedings were not conducted in accordance with law, because none of the witnesses were really testifying under a legally administered oath," Hoover added.

Rep. Starnes (D.) of Alabama member of the Dies committee, assailed the first case as a frame up after learning of the Hoover revelation.

"It all goes to show a frameup on the part of Secretary of Labor Perkins," said Starnes. "I say that in advance of the Bridges hearing Miss Perkins knew what Landis would decide."

Dean James M. Landis is motoring in the South on doctors' orders, recuperating from an attack of pneumonia, his secretary at Harvard Law School said today.

Neither she nor Mrs. Landis know the Dean's present location but said he was en route home and expected in Cambridge at the end of the week.

DEAN JAMES LANDIS

RUSSIA RULES U. S. REDS, OUSTED OFFICIAL SAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2 (AP)—Testimony that American Communists were completely under the thumb of the Internationale, occupied almost the entire attention of the government, in its deportation hearing against Harry Bridges, West Coast maritime labor leader.

Benjamin Gitlow, expelled general secretary of the party in the United States, testified in the second day of the hearing that the Internationale ordered:

1—Creation of a Negro republic from the Southern states when the American revolution comes.

2—Financing of Nicaraguan rebels who fought against American Marines.

3—Communist control of labor unions and separation from the A. F. of L. which "culminated in success when the Congress for Industrial Organization was formed."

The Communist party of the United States, Gitlow testified, had no choice but to obey these orders reached in sessions of the Internationale in Moscow.

And a series of American organizations he listed as being Communist conceived, inspired and controlled could do nothing but obey the edicts of the American Communist party. Among these he listed the International Labor Defense.

Government attorneys sought to show that the Communist Internationale advocated world revolution, that the Communists in the United States were helpless under edicts of the Internationale, and therefore, when the Internationale ordered the overthrow of the United States government the American Communists would have to follow its orders.

Boston May Escape New Coastal Storm

Boston is likely to escape a storm centered off Block Island, about 150 miles southeast of Nantucket, and travelling northeastward, weather bureau officials advised today.

Earlier, storm warnings had been ordered hoisted between Block Island and Portsmouth, N. H., and small craft warnings north of Portsmouth.

WEYMOUTH BOY CYCLIST, HIT BY AUTO, DIES

George F. Bearce, 15, of West st., South Weymouth, died today at Weymouth Hospital from injuries suffered Monday night when his bicycle was struck by a car on Route 128.

In the hospital in a critical condition is a younger brother, Richard W. Bearce, 12, whose bicycle also was wrecked.

The boys were riding near the Braintree-Weymouth line when the headlights of a car suddenly picked them out.

Police say the car was operated by Lyman Sayward, 30, of Whiting st., Hingham. Trying desperately to avoid the boys Sayward swerved, his car overturned and fell on the boys and their bikes.

Sayward also is in the hospital, under treatment for internal injuries, but his condition is described as fair.

Labor Chief Asks State End Biennial Sessions

Massachusetts has "diluted democracy" as a result of biennial legislative sessions, Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the State Federation of Labor, told the legislative committee on constitutional law today.

Speaking in support of a bill favoring return to annual sessions, Taylor said that because Massachusetts was an industrial state it should have annual sessions.

"Biennial sessions are all right for agricultural states, which have little legislation to enact," Taylor said, "but Massachusetts has more than 300 petitions which must be considered, and many of these affect labor interests."

He also pointed out that a newly-elected legislator spends nearly a year learning the routine of lawmaking and his experience is not of real value until he is in his second year.

"The proponents of biennials point to the saving effected," Taylor continued, "but the so-called savings are insignificant. Biennials represent a saving of about five cents a person."

Rep. Samuel G. Atkinson of Brookline told the committee that many serious matters were being considered too hastily as a result of biennial sessions.

Others favoring a return to annual sessions were State Reps. Terence Lomax of Fall River, Harry Kalus of Boston, Colin Cameron of Amesbury, William T. Grant of Fall River, Richard H. Fish of Fall River.

Gov. Saltonstall today reappointed Garrett S. Hoag of Wellesley as the director of the division of liquidation of closed banks. The Legislature recently voted continuance of the division.

Governor's Councillor Daniel H. Coakley deserted his Democratic colleagues today to vote with Republicans and confirm Frederick L. Parker, Westfield Republican, as a member of the State Emergency Finance Board.

Parker's nomination was rejected 5 to 4 a week ago, with Coakley voting against confirmation. Gov. Saltonstall immediately resubmitted Parker's nomination.

Coakley's switch reversed the vote and made it 5 to 4 in favor of confirmation.

Daniel Lynch, former chief secretary to the Governor, was sworn in as clerk of the Boston Municipal Court and Joseph R. Cotton, former special counsel to the Governor, was sworn in to be Lynch's sucessor as chief secretary.

The committee on rules will hold a hearing at 11 o. m. tomorrow on the question of abolishing the Fall River Finance Commission, to which Gov. Saltonstall recently appointed ex-State Auditor Russell A. Wood.

Abolition of the State Senate and establishment of a legislative body of 280 members was urged by Rep. Daniel G. Atkinson of Brookline.

Sen. Richard S. Bowers, also of Brookline and chairman of the Constitutional Law Committee, inquired if Atkinson's objective was an attempt to bring the Senate "down to the level of the House."

"My object," Atkinson shouted, is to combine the dignity of the Senate . . ."

"With the ability of the House," interrupted Rep. Harry Kalus of Boston.

The committee took the proposal under advisement.

Creation of a three-man mortgage and loan appeal board was urged by former Democratic Gov. Charles F. Hurley and was opposed by spokesmen for banking institutions as sound in principle but impractical in application.

Hurley told the state administration committee that there was no central place now where people could bring their grievance on loan transactions, and declared:

"I assure wou that there is no politics in this case. Just as many Republicans as Democrats have lost their homes through foreclosures."

New Haven Employes Group Names Officers

The election of Thomas P. Reardon as president of the Employes' Association of the New Haven railroad to succeed Daniel E. Blake was announced at the annual meeting at Hotel Westminster.

Other officers elected were: Edwin J. Fleming of the traffic department, vice-president; David F. Drummond of the freight claim department, treasurer; Miss Elizabeth M. Chase of the treasury department, secretary. Seven other employes were chosen to serve on the executive committee.

Saltonstall Scores St. Lawrence Plan

Governor Saltonstall today added his condemnation of the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway in a message to Senators David I. Walsh and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

Declaring the project would wreak havic on Massachusetts industry and shipping, the Governor asked both Senators to work for its abandonment. Gov. Saltonstall said:

"The St. Lawrence Waterway and Power Project is again before Congress. Massachusetts has been and is in the forefront in contributing to the fullest extent to national defense. Were this project helpful in the defense program, other considerations might be subordinated. But since it cannot be completed within from five to eight years, full weight can well be given to its detrimental effects upon the industrial, commercial and maritime interests of Boston and of Massachusetts.

"The groups vitally concerned in this Commonwealth have reported to me after recent exhaustive study as follows:

"'New England Council: The proposed development of the St. Lawrence River for power and navigation purposes is not in the interest of the economic welfare of the New England area, nor in the interest of the national defense.

"'St. Lawrence Project conference: New England sentiment is overwhelmingly opposed either as a necessary part of the defense program or as a national economic necessity.

"'Associated Industries of Massachusetts: Conditions which ed to our approval 20 years ago have disappeared. Today project is uneconomical and unwise; excessive in expenditure of public monies and labor requirements needed in national defense program. Would be wasteful duplication of existing efficient and economical utilities.

INJURIOUS TO HUB

"'Boston Port Authority: Detrimental to Port of Boston, of national commercial usefulness in no way comparable to cost involved, and of no demonstrable value from point of view of national defense.'

"This country will face a major economic problem when the present defense emergency is over.

"In view of these opinions of the different groups of New England men who have studied this proposal, as Governor of the Commonwealth, I respectfully ask your most careful consideration of this project, the culmination of which most certainly seems to be highly detrimental to the future of our state without being of tremendous advantage to the United States."

Millionaire's Son Jailed for Beating Mother

LOS ANGELES, April 2 (AP)—Harry A. Fox, 34, son of a late Seattle millionaire, stood before Municipal Judge Oda Faulconer. The charge: beating his mother, Mrs. Marian Fox.

"Everybody thinks money eliminates trouble and brings happiness," said the feminine jurist. "But here is a case where a million dollars alienated a son and his mother to the point where he struck her."

She sentenced Fox to 30 days in jail and stipulated that thereafter he must not visit his mother except in the presence of a third person.

Fox denied the charge. His mother testified he beat her into semi-consciousness and threatened her with a knife in a quarrel over money.

CIO Head Backs New Highway

The Hub's jammed traffic arteries were seen today as the "No. 1 bottle neck" in defense production in Massachusetts by Joseph A. Salerno, president of the State CIO Industrial Union Council.

Pledging his organization's support of a bill favoring an overhead highway through downtown Boston and the Blue Hills radial to connect the Northern and Southern arteries, Salerno declared:

"Our piers, railroad yards and terminals are piled high with tons of national defense material which must be shipped to all sections of the Commonwealth. The No. 1 bottleneck in this regard is traffic congestion."

El-Serviced Towns Probe Overcharge

With Atty.-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell today studying the Boston Finance Commission charges that the Elevated has overcharged the public $20,000,000 in the last 18 years, Mayor Tobin announced that mayors and selectmen of all communities served by the El will meet April 9, at City Hall.

At that time, the mayor said, the finance commission report will be discussed and action planned to bring about some sort of an accounting. He added that the various committees would not be asked to contribute toward the cost of the proble, estimated at between $50,000 and $60,000.

In commenting on the report, Atty.-Gen. Bushnell said he would study the findings carefully and "take such action as I believe to be in the public interest."

Meanwhile, a bill calling for immediate investigation and accounting of the Elevated's books by the state auditor was filed with the clerk of the House by Rep. Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., of Roxbury.

Another who had his say in the Elevated situation was former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelley. He asserted the finance commission report had "only scratched the surface."

TASTE WHY Gas Cooking leads!

PLANKED WHITE FISH

Planked fish may be garnished with hot or cold vegetables:

1: If hot vegetables are used, a potato border may be piped through a pastry bag around the fish, making nests for other hot vegetables, such as French lima beans, green peas, string beans, etc. After applying this vegetable garnish, the plank should be returned to the oven to reheat the fish and the vegetables. Remove, garnish with parsley, and serve.

2. If cold vegetables are used, the planked fish may be garnished with any desired combination of water cress, parsley, green pepper, fresh tomatoes, cucumber slices, lemon slices, and paprika.

2 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. mustard
Pastry or toast
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. Worcestershire Sauce
Dash of cayenne
1 cup tomatoes, strained
1 cup grated cheese
¾ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten

Cook green pepper in butter for 5 minutes. Blend in the flour. Add egg, mustard, salt, cayenne, Worcestershire Sauce, tomatoes and cheese. Cook 4 minutes. Heat milk, add mixture to it, then the crabmeat. Serve in pastry or on toast.

2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1 cups sugar
eggs
cup sour milk
teaspoon vanilla extract ounces unsweetened chocolate, melted teaspoon baking soda tablespoon vinegar

1. Sift flour and salt 3 times.
2. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream mixture thoroughly.
3. Beat eggs until light and add to butter mixture.
4. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with sour milk and vanilla extract, using 4 additions of dry ingredients and 3 of sour milk.
5. Add melted chocolate, and mix well.
6. Dissolve soda in vinegar, and while still foaming add it to the batter.
7. Bake in a preheated oven.
8. Loosen cakes from sides of pans. Invert onto wire racks.
9. Melt chocolate slowly. Add condensed milk and cook slowly about 3 minutes or until mixture is thick. Stir constantly.
10. Remove from flame, add water and mix well.

PINEAPPLE-MINT LAMB RING

To make this delectable salad, use:
2 cups diced, leftover cooked lamb
French dressing
1 tablespoon gelatin
¼ cup water
1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
¼ cup vinegar
½ cup water
5 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon mint extract
Green coloring

Marinate lamb 1 hour in French dressing, which is well seasoned with onion. Bring to boiling the pineapple juice, vinegar, the ½ cup of water, sugar, and salt in a glass or enamel saucepan. Pour over gelatin, which has been allowed to soften in the ¼ cup water for five minutes. Stir all until dissolved. Pour enough of the mixture into a pint-and-a-half ring mold to just cover the bottom. Set all gelatin aside until it starts to thicken. When the gelatin mold has started to thicken, garnish with sliced stuffed olives. Pour in about half of the remaining gelatin mixture. Drain the lamb and put on top of the gelatin. To the rest of the gelatin, add mint flavoring and green coloring. Pour over the lamb. Set in the automatic gas refrigerator to cool and get firm. Unmold on lettuce, fill center with coleslaw, and garnish with water cress and sections of tomato. This serves six.

U. S. Plans to Crack Down On Speculators in Food

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The administration, it was learned today, may act soon to "crack down" on food speculators suspected of seeking "undue" profits either from domestic needs or from those of Great Britain and the other nations marked for lease-lend aid.

The question of food profiteering was understood to have figured prominently in official conferences now in progress looking to formulation of a broad program to assure adequate supplies both for domestic and foreign aid requirements.

Indications were that the details of the general program would be outlined in the near future in a formal government announcement.

Administration sources, meanwhile, reported that evidence uncovered in the food study to date might cause the government to impose price controls.

The fundamentals of the food supply general program were discussed yesterday at a White House conference attended by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Leon Henderson, member of the National Advisory Defense Commission.

A further exploration of the problem—both from the viewpoint of home as well as foreign needs—is scheduled for tomorrow at a closed meeting of the Agriculture Advisory Council.

N. E. Airports Get 14 Millions

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration plans expenditures of $14,016,429 in New England to undertake improvement and expansion of 35 airports under the national defense program.

Twenty-one of the projects listed would be started after funds become available for the CAA and Works Projects Administration on July 1.

Ten airports already have been completed under the defense program, CAA officials disclosed in testimony before the House appropriations subcommittee which was made public today.

AXIS FORCES SLOW BRITISH IN LIBYA

CAIRO, Egypt, April 2 (AP)—The British acknowledged slightly increased pressure of Axis military power in Libya today even as their victorious forces in East Africa pursued the Italians on two major fronts, hopeful for speedy knock-out blows.

Imperial forces were declared to have virtually cornered some 100,000 Italians in the East African campaign to destroy Mussolini's empire.

The acknowledgment of Axis activity in Libya, in North Africa, was noted briefly in a headquarters communique which said British advanced elements northeast of Mersa Brega were withdrawing. This was done in the face of what British sources called a "reconnaissance in force."

The communique also noted that it was "believed" the Red Sea Eritrean port of Massaua, toward which the British are driving, was still held by the Italians, although a communique from Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, suggested a possibility that all of Eritrea was capitulating under the "cease firing" order which ended the defense of Asmara, the capital.

The German communique today said armored units of the German Africa corps, assisted by German and Italian air forces, on Monday "took one advanced position and one fortified enemy outpost," and added that British counter-attacks were unsuccessful. "The enemy hastily retreated to Agedabia. Our own losses were small," the communique said.—Editor's note.

Italians Trying to Stem Advance Into Eritrea

ROME, April 2 (AP)—The Italian high command reported today Fascist troops were putting up stiff resistance against numerically superior British forces in the Awash river valley between Diredawa and Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia.

Italian troops also were said to be trying to stem the British advance in Eritrea.

New RAF Bomb Can Hurl Entire Building Into Air

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—The ministry of aircraft production asserted today that the new type high explosive bombs dropped on Emden Monday night had "five times the blasting effect of any previously dropped by the RAF."

RAF bomber pilots returning from the Emden raid said the new bomb was capable of hurling an entire building into the air.

The ministry said it was of "very large size" and that the "constant endeavor will be to make them still bigger, better and more catastrophic in their effect."

RAF Turns Mannheim Into a Nazi 'Coventry'

By JAMES E. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 2 (INS)—Germany now has its "Coventry"—the work of determined RAF attacks—informed British quarters declared today.

It is the Westphalian armament and industrial city of Mannheim, where RAF assaults have been carried out on the weight and scale of the famous German attack on Coventry.

According to British sources these attacks have dislocated Mannheim's docks, passenger and freight stations, its engineering and chemical works and to a considerable extent the entire industrial life of the city.

Air ministry sources also promised that from now on Germany will have "other Coventrys."

With its bigger planes capable of bearing heavier bomb loads for longer distances, it was stated, the RAF now is only beginning to carry a real "blitz" back to Germany.

Information from these and other sources shows that during the first three weeks of March the RAF carried out three heavy raids on the German industrial city of Cologne in the Rhineland and one light and two heavy raids on Berlin.

One of the attacks on the German capital, according to this information, seriously disrupted Berlin's subway system.

In addition, British raids on Hannover, Bremen and Hamburg are definitely known, according to the RAF, to have caused tremendous damage to the German war effort—especially to transportation facilities.

One well informed source declared:

"Britain now is using some of the biggest and fastest bombers in the world with bombs equal in size and weight to anything the Nazis have dropped. These bombs will find targets in Berlin and elsewhere.

"The rising tide of British preparations is now being increased by aircraft from America."

U. S. Allows French Freighter to Sail

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—The French freighter Ile de Questant, delayed in sailing by the Treasury Department during the government's seizure of Italian, German and Danish ships, left today for Norfolk, Va., to load coal for Martinique.

Officials said the 6187-ton vessel had been granted State Department and British permission to operate between Martinique and the United States. Other French ships in the harbor were still under surveillance.

LORD ROCKLEY DEAD

Berlin Claims 11 More Ships Sunk

BERLIN, April 2 (AP)—German planes and submarines were credited by the Nazi high command today with the destruction of 11 more British merchant vessels totaling 77,300 tons.

Six of the vessels—all large tankers—were sunk by Nazi planes yesterday at the entrance of St. George's channel between England and Ireland, the daily war bulletin declared.

Five other ships totaling 35,300 tons were said to have been sunk by a single submarine in the North Atlantic.

Destruction of another convoyed vessel also "appears certain," the communique said.

In daylight attacks upon England yesterday, the high command said, German combat planes blasted an airport on the south coast wiwth "overwhelming success."

Twenty-four planes "definitely" were destroyed on the ground, it was said.

Authorized sources said German fighting planes bombed an 8000-ton merchantman this morning northeast of Hull, England, hits causing the ship to halt with a list.

POPE TALKS HOUR WITH MATSUOKA

VATICAN CITY, April 2 (AP)—Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka talked with Pope Pius XII an hour and five minutes in a private audience today.

Matsuoka presented members of his staff to the Pontiff and later called upon Luigi Cardinal Maglione, Papal secretary of state.

While Matsuoka talked with the Papal secretary of state for 45 minutes—15 minutes longer than scheduled—the Pontiff received 12 Japanese ecclesiastical students who had welcomed the foreign minister on arrival.

Speaking of his meeting with Matsuoka, the Pope said:

"It was a fine audience, and you should be happy to have so able a minister."

He added that he sent the Apostolic blessing to their "dear far-off country."

After his meeting with Cardinal Maglione, the Japanese foreign minister went to Villa Madama to receive the customary return visit from the Papal secretary of state.

How Could They Forget Him?

SCOTTSVILLE, Va., April 2 (AP)—To the six friends of John R. Harding, who acted—at his request—as pallbearers at his funeral there came this note:

"Remember me when I am gone. J. R. H."

To each note was pinned a $100 bill.

Steel Plates Finished in Maine for Two British Cargo Ships; 1000 at Work

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me., April 2—More than 1000 tons of steel were fabricated into plates today for the first two of 30 cargo carriers for beleaguered Britain. Officials of the Todd-Bath Iron Works, who hold contracts for the vessels, said keels for the first two craft would be laid by June. More than 1000 men now are employed at the yard on an around-the-clock schedule.

Duce Ends Mediation Efforts for Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 2 (AP)—An Italian legation spokesman announced today that "certain conversations" between Italy and ugoslavia, which had led to reports of possible mediation by Premier Mussolini in the Yugoslav-German crisis, "have attained no result and no negotiations are now in progress."

The Fascist spokesman said the talks, between the Italian minister to Belgrade and the ugoslav foreign minister, had been held "to see if any possibilities existed for establishing contact between Belgrade and Rome."

The Yugoslav government maintained a restrained attitude toward Nazo press and radio attacks as intense diplomatic activity over its relations with the Axis was indicated.

Newspaper dispatches from the Yugoslav border to Budapest, Hungary, today reported that two Rumanian trains carrying wheat and oil to Italy were confiscated by the Yugoslav government.—Editor's Note.

King Peter II was forced to annul one of his fe wroyal decrees—the act abolishing the Senate. Political observers said this cancellation probably was prompted by political repercussions which were considered undesirable at this critical moment.

The Yugoslav minister to Berlin, Ivo Andric, after two days in Belgrade to report personally to his superiors, started back to Berlin last night, the Yugoslav news agency announced.

Berlin Gets Report On Yugoslav Situation

BERLIN, April 2 (AP)—Viktor von Heeren, German minister to Yugoslavia, delivered an exhaustive report today to the Reich's government on the Yugoslav situation.

Every detail of his findings, according to the commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland, "is being studied and analyzed. The final German reaction, therefore, is not yet available."

British Air Chief Reported in Manila

MANILA, April 2 (AP)—Although United States Army and Navy officials declined to comment, reliable sources said Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, air marshal and commander-in-chief of British forces in the Far East, arrived here today by transport plane.

These sources said Sir Robert immediately contacted Admiral Thomas C. Hart, in command of the U. S. Asiatic fleet, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, retired former chief of the U. S. Army, now military adviser to the Philippine Commonwealth.

'CHUTE CACHES, FLIER SAVED

FORT BENNING, GaApril 2 (AP) — A parachute taper got down to earth safely yesday after dangling at the end a plane for five minutes while ircled at 1500 feet with his parachu caught on its tail.

Private First Class Saley K. Findlay of the Army's 5it Parachute Battalion figured at if he pulled the cord of his sergency 'chute, the shock of itopening would pull the first oneoose. It did, but cracked his colk bone.

The sudden yank alsoipped a hole in the second 'chut and let Findlay down so fast tha he dislocated a hip when he laded in a plowed field.

Maj. William M. Miley, commanding officer of the battalion, attributed the accident to opening of the first parachute too quickly. The 'chute is opened automatically by a "static line."

NOW DOUBLY DELICIOUS! GOLDEN SOFT KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN! IT'S MADE FROM ONE OF THE WORLD'S FINEST WHEATS!

IT'S LIGHTER! CRISPER! TRY IT FOR TOMORROW'S BREAKFAST

Copyright, 1941, by Kellogg Company

FOR YEARS you've known KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN as a famous laxative cereal. Now try it for its taste as well!

IT'S DOUBLY DELICIOUS because it's made of finer quality bran from one of the world's softest wheats. The improved ALL-BRAN comes out of our toasters bright as shreds of gold. It's lighter! Crisper! More delicate! Ask your grocer for it today.

Making a good thing better is an old American custom. So, for years Kellogg's grain buyers, who buy more grain for ready-to-eat breakfast cereals than any other men in the world, have been seeking an ideal wheat for KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. A few months ago, they found it growing in the sunny valleys of the Pacific Coast states and in a few midwestern and eastern areas.

It's one of the world's softest wheats—used for the very finest pastry flour.

The bran from this wheat, put through ALL-BRAN'S cooking and toasting ovens, came out bright as shreds of gold, and lighter, softer, crisper, more delicately flavored than any we had used in 20 years of making ALL-BRAN.

And now the improved and more delicious ALL-BRAN is at your grocer's.

If you or other members of your family are troubled with constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in the diet, try the improved ALL-BRAN! Or use it merely as a precaution against this common ailment. Be sure to eat it regularly, and drink plenty of water.

ALL-BRAN is made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. It is sold by grocers and served by restaurants everywhere.

FROM ONE OF THE WORLD'S FINEST WHEATS

OUT IN THE WEST, grain men are growing one of the world's softest wheats. It is used especially for the finest pastry flour. And it's from this marvelous wheat that Kellogg's gets its better bran for your favorite breakfast food.

F. D., CABINET CONFER ON SHIPPING AID

WASHINGTON, April 2 (AP)—President Roosevelt discussed the question of furnishing ship tonnage to Britain and other phases of the $7,000,000,000 British aid program today and then called an afternoon meeting of cabinet and military advisers on the whole lend-lease set-up.

The Chief Executive first invited Secretaries Hull, Stimson, Knox and Morgenthau, and Harry L. Hopkins, to the afternoon meeting for what was described as a routine check on the defense and British aid projects.

Later Attorney-General Jackson and three service chiefs—General George C. Marshall, Army; Admiral Harold R. Stark, Navy, and Major-General Thomas Holcombe, Marines—were asked to attend.

4 Police Captains Lose Day's Pay

Four new captains in the Boston Police Department start off their new careers by losing one day's pay—$11 each—it was revealed today.

The loss came, according to State Civil Service Commissioner Ulysses J. Lupien, because Police Commissioner Timilty did not make the appointments from a properly-requested certified civil service list.

The four men whose tenure of office, under new orders issued today by Acting Commr. Edward W. Fallon (Timilty is in Florida), will begin as of April 1, are Lawrence H. Waitt, James J. Hinchey, Hugh D. Brady and Robert A. Lynch.

Fr. W. A. Walsh Dies at 66

The Rev. William A. Walsh, for many years pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Church, South Braintree, died at Carney Hospital today after an illness of several months.

Father Walsh was born Aug. 10, 1874 in Tewksbury. He was educated at St. John's Seminary in Brighton, and ordained to the priesthood at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross on Dec. 23, 1900.

He was curate in Charlestown, Brockton and Cohasset churches, and was made pastor at St. Francis in 1924.

A solemn high mass will be celebrated for him Saturday at 10 a. m in St. Francis of Assisi church.

Coal Miners Hope Deadlock Is Near End

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP) — Four hundred thousand soft coal miners in 12 states remained idle today as a deadlock over a new contract continued.

Hope for resumption of work within 48 hours, however, was expressed by Chief U. S. Conciliator John R. Steelman, at least under a temporary arrangement while union operator conferees continued negotiations for a contract.

"The differences are not insurmountable," Steelman said shortly before last midnight, declaring progress had been made toward an agreement and that since negotiators had agreed to meet again today there was "no cause for alarm."

Before midnight the conciliator reported by telephone to President Roosevelt on the deadlock between the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) and 90 per cent of the nation's bituminous producers.

Steelman said he felt optimistic over what he had to tell the President, who on Monday had requested the report in a telegram urging "uninterrupted operation" of the soft coal industry so as not to endanger the national defense effort.

The union is pressing for $1-a-day wage increase and elimination of a 40-cent north-south wage differential, which would bring the standard daily pay to $7.

Dad Dies on Way To See New Son

BROCKTON, April 2—George E. Micheau, 32, of North Montello st., died at Brockton Hospital today of injuries suffered during an automobile ride to see his wife and newborn son.

Micheau, with a companion, was en route to Phaneuf Hospital after doctors had called him with the joyous news that he was a dad.

In the haste to see his son, their automobile skidded and struck a tree on North Carey st., throwing Micheau through the windshield and seriously injuring his friend, Walter Harriman of North Quincy st.

Rushed to Brockton Hospital, doctors sought to save Micheau's life but he died a few hours later from a compound depressed skull fracture.

News of the tragedy was not immediately told to the victim's wife.

INDICTMENTS SEEN IN SHIP SABOTAGE

At least three indictments were expected to be returned today by the federal grand jury which met in special session for several hours to investigate sabotage charges growing out of the seizure of two Axis vessels in Boston harbor.

Deportation hearings in the cases of 43 German and Italian seamen removed from the German tanker Pauline Friederich and the Italian freighter Dino were suddenly recessed yesterday at East Boston immigration station.

It was thought at that time that the hearings were interrupted to allow the grand jury to act in the sabotage charges against the crews, headed by Capt. Ernst Rudolf Heitzmann of the German tanker, and Capt. Carlo Fava of the Italian freighter.

First to enter the grand jury room today were U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon and his assistant, Edward D. Hassan.

They were followed by these witnesses, in order:

Thomas F. Finnegan and Daniel Grant, deputy collectors of customs for the Port of Boston; Michael J. Fitzpatrick and John H. Lord, customs inspectors; Joseph J. Flynn, supervising customs agent; Frank G. H. Hall, chief machinist of the Coast Guard; Ensign Victor Pfeiffer of the Coast Guard and two agents of the Federal Bureau of Identification whose names were not revealed.

Vichy Now Pays Normandie Captain Only $29 Per Month

NEW YORK, April 2 (INS)—In peacetime, the commander of the 84,423-ton French luxury liner Normandie is paid $13,000 a year.

Today Capt. Herve Lehuede, paid by the Vichy government, disclosed he was receiving $29 a month.

The Normandie, moored in the North River since the outbreak of the war, today had steam up, but French line officials denied that any flight, is contemplated.

The boilers merely were stoked, it was explained, in order to turn over the propellers slowly to avoid possible harm to the engines which might suffer from disuse.

Britain Free Of Raids Again

LONDON, April 2 (INS)—Save for a few bombs dropped on southwestern England, German air attacks on Britain came to a virtual halt during the night, the air ministry announced today.

RAF fighters shot down an enemy raider east of the Devon coast today.

For the 12th successive night night Nazi raiders failed to attack London.

An earlier announcement said RAF fighter patrols destroyed two enemy bombers off the Welsh coast late yesterday afternoon.

Seasick Woman Charters Plane To Reach Land

MIAMA, Fla., April 2 (AP)—A. B. Chalk, operator of a charter airplane service, received an emergency ship-to-shore call from the yacht Flowade.

"Need you to flyill woman to Miami, was the summons yesterday.

Chalk winged over the waters to the vicinity of Bimini, Bahama island, returned in quick time.

Mrs. Wade H. Furrow of Miami stepped from the seaplane, called her chauffeur.

"I got seasick," she explained.

Round trip charter flights to Bimini cost $125.

British Planes Sink Destroyer

LONDON, April 2 (AP)—The admiralty announced today that British naval aircraft of the East Indies command had sunk an Italian destroyer of the 1526-ton Pantera class.

The destroyer was attacked after leaving the Eritrean port of Massaua on the Red sea, toward which British East African forces now are driving, the admiralty said.

The German merchantman Bertram Rickmers, 4188 tons, has been intercepted by a British warship, the admiralty also announced today, while the Rickmers was endeavoring to escape from Mas-

A New Figure for Spring

Registered U. S. Patent Office

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Toss all your faddy reducing menus to the April breeze. There is only one diet worth your while—and that's the thousand-calorie balanced menu. And it's not only slimming, it's a tonic.

The modern knowledge of nutrition makes it possible for the overweight to have an abundant diet and still lose one to three pounds a week. This scientific diet is so good that it puts the Hollywood diet, the lamb chop and pineapple fad and all the others to shame. It provides an abundance of every essential except calories!

DIET AND HEALTH produce figures like blonde Jean Arthur's in this glamorous pose.

Nothing could be fairer than that because, if you are overweight, you have plenty of calories to spare.

Since the calories must be kept low, this abundant diet is made up almost exclusively of protective foods. It supplies daily: Two fresh fruits, one a citrus; two cooked vegetables, one a green; a raw vegetable salad; whole grain bread—or vitamin B bread; butter; a liberal serving of lean meat, fish or fowl; an egg, and two glasses of skim milk or one glass of milk and a serving of cheese.

That diet furnishes adequate amounts of protein, minerals and vitamins. To furnish an abundance of the vitamins, one vitamin A, B, C, D capsule should supplement the menus. An optimal vitamin intake contributes to that feeling of well being.

The 1600 calories a day are sufficient to take care of your energy requirements, so you must draw on your stored fat for part of your requirements. This brings the weight down. It's a law of nature that when you take less food than you use daily, the stored calories are reconverted into energy. But the diet must provide everything you need, so that your system goes right along functioning smoothly while you burn the useless fat.

It is one of the marvels of the scientific age that a low-calorie diet can be so perfectly balanced as to actually improve your health while you are losing your excess weight at the steady clip of one to two pounds per week.

You can not only slim down but you will feel like a million dollars fresh from the mint! You don't believe it? Then you've never given a balanced menu a fair trial.

Tomorrow—take your measure.

Ford River Rouge Plant Is Biggest In Entire World

DETROIT, April 2 (AP) — The River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co., where a strike was called today, is the heart of the fabulous industrial empire.

It is located near Dearborn, where the River Rouge flows into the Detroit river, and employs approximately 86,000 men, the largest single factory unit in the world.

The plant covers 1096 acres and the buildings have a floor area of more than 7,250,000 square feet. Within its gates are blast furnaces, a locomotive repair shop, the largest foundry in the world, open hearth furnaces, steel plant and rolling mill, paper mill, glass factory, laboratories and a cement plant. The factory has 14 miles of roadways and 92 miles of railroad tracks.

Allis Riots Force Reclosing

MILWAUKEE, April 2 (AP)—The strike-bound Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., scene of riotous outbreaks in which 48 persons were injured, suspended production today at the request of state and local authorities seeking to prevent recurrence of disorder and bloodshed.

The order closing the huge suburban west Allis plant came last night after peace officers had clashed in a three-hour battle with CIO strikers and sympathizers who attempted to break up a back-to-work movement climaxing the 71-day strike.

Company President Max W. Babb, announcing the shutdown, stated that he acted at the urgent request of Gov. Julius Heil and Sheriff Joseph J. Shinners and that the situation now was "in the hands of the federal government for action."

GIRL, 16, MISSING

LaGuardia Slashes Budget $7,307,710

NEW YORK, April 2 (AP)—Mayor LaGuardia has proposed for the coming year a "peace-time" New York city budget of $573,741,123.13, lower by $7,307,710.97 than the present budget.

"It is a balanced budget," he told the board of estimate, yesterday, adding that if the United States became involved in war, "there will have to be a complete revision of the budget and greatly increased appropriations."

RIOTING FLARES AT FORD PLANT

pany's co-operation, we are ready to have a representative of OPM or the U. S. Department of Labor indicate which Rouge employes are needed for national defense work and to facilitate their entrance into the plant."

BLAMES COMMUNISTS

Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, said the strike "shows an extremely unpatriotic attitude on the part of the Communistic element to ruin our national defense effort."

Informed sources expressed belief that work on an order for 1500 small Army trucks was the only actual defense production under way currently at the Rouge plant, although an airplane engine factory within the confines of the plant is nearly ready to start operations.

Bennett said that eight men the company returned to their jobs at the request of Federal Labor Conciliator James F. Dewey "ran rampant in the plant, cursing people who didnt feel of the same mind as they did about the union."

"We will not, under any consideration, take these men back into the plant," Bennett continued.

He said he had talked to Henry Ford, founder of the company, this morning, and that Ford supported this stand.

PICKETS IN 2 CLASHES

Principal violence this morning centered at Gate 4 of the Rouge plant which stretches for a mile along Miller rd. in suburban Dearborn. Two serious clashes occurred between UAW-CIO pickets and non-strikers who came out of the plant gate and battled the unionists in the street.

The non-strikers were armed with iron pipe, wrenches and metal bolts; the pickets with bricks and stout staves on which they carried placards. After the second clash the pickets withdrew only to have fighting break out anew two blocks away.

Before Governor Van Wagner ordered state police on duty, Bennett said in a statement that "the Governor had chosen to let these mobs of men, some of whom are drunk, take complete control of the city streets in Dearborn, even insulting women who are not in any way to blame for the trouble.

"We were criticized when we took it upon ourselves to protect our property in 1937. There will be no violence from our side. There will be no violence on the part of the Ford Motor Co."

BATTLE RENEWED

Many of the non-strikers involved in fighting were Negroes. Union officials reported that several pickets were slashed by razors or knives.

Today's first clash occurred about 7 a. m. when non-strikers emerged from Gate 4, scene of a riot in which UAW-CIO organizers were injured in 1937, and pelted the CIO pickets with missiles. The pickets picked up the missiles and threw them back.

About 9 a. m. men carrying pieces of iron pipe, wrenches and bricks again emerged from the gate, and fighting was renewed with the union pickets in the middle of Middle rd.

TOSS MISSILES

In this clash at least five strikers were knocked down, but none apparently required treatment for injuries. After about ten minutes the group from the plant again returned inside the fences, and the clash continued for a short time with both sides tossing missiles.

Mayor John L. Carey of Dearborn announced he had sent the following telegram to Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner and Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety:

"Last evening I requested that the State Police be sent into Dearborn to aid us in law enforcement. This morning, Dearborn is the scene of flagrant disregard for all rights of citizens, both union and non-union.

10 STRIKERS INJURED

"This condition cannot be permitted to exist longer. Streets are blocked off, citizens are being beaten and molested in their lawful attempts to return to work. Immediate action on your part is imperative."

Michael F. Widman, Jr., head of the UAW-CIO organizational campaign, declared at 8 a. m. that the strike was "completely effective and that the only persons in the plant were members of the Ford service department and maintenance men in the glass building, pressed steel building and power plant who had been instructed by the union to report for work."

Widman said that as a result of the clash at Gate 4, ten strikers were treated for lacerations at the union's first aid depot, and one, William E. Leach, suffered a possible fracture of both arms. Another picket was slashed with a knife, he said.

Several rocks were thrown and automobile windows smashed as cars tried to break through the blockade. Some workers who succeeded in passing the blockade and reaching Gate 4 drew jeers from pickets as they entered, but were not molested.

Scores of automobiles were parked bumper to bumper on Miller rd.

A traffic lane was left open and police cars passed freely through the barricade.

ROCKS HURLED

Several hundred pickets at Miller and Dix roads turned back several cars loaded with Negro employes, and smashed all windows of one auto. Another Negro drove through the Gate 4 pickets at high speed, his windshield smashed, but entered the plant.

A shower of rocks greeted a delivery truck which broke through the Miller rd. auto blockade.

Shortly before 7 a. m. there was no estimate of the number of men who had passed the picket line.

By that time an almost steady procession of workers was crossing the Gate 4 overpass into the plant and pickets were taken from other gates, with about 75 remaining at Gate 4.

The auto barricade completely blocked Miller rd. near "Eagle Pass" near the north end of the plant, but cars were backed out to permit passage of police cars or others approved by the pickets.

Street cars were blocked from the plant area near Michigan and Wyoming aves., some distance away from the spot where they usually enter Ford property, and workers arriving on them had to walk to the overpasses into the plant.

The dispute, climax of a four-year attempt by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) to organize Ford employes, flared suddenly last night when unionists ceased work in several departments of Ford's giant factory on the River Rouge, in suburban Dearborn.

Dearborn officials described the move as a "sit down strike" and appealed to Governor Van Wagoner for state police to evacuate an estimated 5000 to 8000 workers.

UAW-CIO leaders charged that employes were forcibly kept inside the plant by members of the Ford service department. Later all the 20,000 workers the union said were involved were reported to have left the plant.

Walter P. Reuther, head of the union's General Motors department, said this morning the A. F. of L. Teamsters' Union head had pledged its co-operation in the strike and would not allow trucks to enter or leave the plant. In the early morning darkness several trucks were moved to positions close to gates of the plant which stretches for a mile along Shaefer highway and Miller rd. in Dearborn.

Federal and state mediators moved swiftly to enter the dispute. James F. Dewey, United States Labor Department's ace conciliator who aided in settling prolonged sit-down strikes in General Motors and Chrysler plants in 1937, arranged to fly here this morning from his Chester, Pa., home.

THE OPERA audience has an audience . . . Each night the crowd of sidewalk onlookers in front of the Metropolitan Theater grows larger as folks gather to watch the brilliant parade of music lovers pouring into the theater in an array of beautiful evening finery, sparkling jewels, furs and flowers . . .

The sidewalk spectators range from curious youngsters and teen age girls with their boy friends to older men and women eager to rub elbows with the fashionably elite . . .

Last evening's performance of "The Daughter of the Regiment," was an especially exciting occasion for opera fans since it marked the Boston debut of Lily Pons in the title role . . and it provided a brilliant spectacle of ermines and orchids for the multitude of onlookers . . .

ENTHUSIASTIC OPERA FANS are Anna and Clementine Hobbs, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Hobbs of Brookline, who smile happily in anticipation of hearing their favorite singers as they arrive for an opera performance at the Metropolitan Theater. Their identical evening wraps are fashioned of black velvet, with deep yokes of flame velvet embroidered with gold.

They saw such colorful costumes as Barbara Bremer's American Beauty taffeta gown topped by a sapphire blue ostrich cape, and such lavish furs as Mrs. Robert Stevenson's ankle length chinchilla cape which is one of the few of its kind in Boston and only brought out of storage for very special events . . .

Then too, the dazzle of Mrs. George S. West's long diamond necklace and Mrs. William Tudor Gardiner's sapphire necklace, earrings and bracelets gave them something to remember . . .

Dorothy Gannett, whose wedding to Thomas Ridgway Macy of New York will be an outstanding event in May, attended with a group of young people including her maid of honor, Anne Galt Grant . . . Dottie wore a white fox cape over her American Beauty taffeta gown and Anne topped her pale blue lame with a silver fox cape . . .

Rivals Regimental Costumes

RIVALLING the gayety and brilliance of the colorful Regimental costumes of Lily Pons and the cast was Mrs. Wallace Scudder's lovely gown of red, green and yellow print . . It was made with short puff sleeves and with it the blonde Mrs. S. carried a round old fashioned bouquet of red and white carnations . . .

Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr. and Mrs. William Endicott dashed out from their box at intermission to find a vantage point on the balcony surrounding the lobby and from there waved cordially to the many friends they recognized in the crowd below . . . Mrs. William C. Cox and Miss Elizabeth Leland also surveyed the throng from the marble balcony . . . Mrs. Cox wore a striking gown of Biminy green with a matching jacket embroidered with gold, and Miss Leland had sables around the shoulders of her deep magenta gown . . .

Miss Elizabeth Parker, one of the guiding spirits of the Vincent Club, wore a raspberry chiffon and tulle gown as she strolled through the supper room with Miss Ellen Bullard . . . and also enjoying a cooling drink were Dottie Preston and her fiance, Charles P. Waite . . . Mr. and Mrs. David Cheever, Jr., greeted many friends as they sauntered down the long red carpeted stairway between the acts . . . blonde Mrs. Cheever wearing a wine velvet gown enhanced by a gold necklace and long gold earrings . . .

A PEARL CROSS on a gold chain was the only ornament worn by Mrs. H. Thomas Ballantine, Jr., with her gold crepe gown and Mrs. Harold G. Kern wore a white fox cape and gay printed gown to set off her Palm Beach tan . . . Bella Grandin, arriving with top hatted Harrison Proctor, wore a white faille gown as did May Bottomley who chatted with her sister deb, Barnet Gring, during intermission . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake were the center of a gay throng in the supper room, Mrs. Blake wearing an ermine coat, adorned with diamond clips, over her black lace gown . . .

BOSTONIANS ENJOY NEW YORK HOLIDAY

Celebrating their spring holidays from school, the Misses Sally and Elizabeth Meigs and their brother, Wallace, are having a whirl in New York where they are staying at the Waldorf Astoria with their mother, Mrs. Joseph Vincent Meigs of Chestnut Hill. Before returning home Wallace will visit Lawrence White, son of Mrs. L. Lawrence White, at his home in New York.

Smith College Club

Mrs. Robert Cushman Spring Meeting Hostess

Gold and white, Smith College colors, predominated in the striking flower arrangement of iris, daffodils and stock which Mrs. Robert Cushman provided for the tea tables in her home yesterday at the spring meeting of the Boston Smith College Club.

Guests of honor at the reception were Smith undergraduates home for the spring holidays. Miss Faith Conant of Brookline and Miss Teddy Young of Newton, undergraduates, spoke briefly on life at college and the work of the new president. Each undergraduate guest was presented with a big red rose.

Mrs. Cushman received in a simple black gown accented with touches of white and a corsage of pink camellias and white freesia. Mrs. Osborne Earle, president of the Boston Smith Club, assisted in welcoming guests and wore a modish two tone gray dress with a turquoise blue hat and gardenia corsage.

Among the many guest were Mrs. Frederic Tudor, daughter of Mrs. Cushman, who wore black with white pique accents; Mrs. Charles P. White in a navy blue costume with a navy faille hat; Mrs. Gordon Morison who topped her black ensemble with an acqua hat; Mrs. Arthur T. Hertig in Nile green; Mrs. John Yerxa whose rust wool outfit was trimmed with beaver; Mrs. Richard T. Floyd in a wine ensemble with a black hat and corsage of white flowers; Miss Charlotte Bassett, Mrs. George Proctor and her daughter, Mrs Courtney Smith. Miss Mabel Cummings, principle of the May-Brimmer School, also attended as did the newly engaged Georgina Powell, of Cambridge, who graduated from Smith in 1939.

You Can Be Beautiful

A New Easter Complexion!

By ARLINE GOULD

A DISHEARTENED complexion . . . and there are loads of them around after the winter has done its worst . . . needs something thrillingly new to give it pulse and color . . . like the newest, velvetiestmake-up base of them all . . . called a "veil of beauty" because it covers blemishes!

You know how flattering a pale blue . . . or green . . . or pink complexion veil can be . . . almost to the point of disillusionment when the veil is pushed back and the skin is found to be far from fair and fine.

You may be sure your Easter day complexion will look twice as ravishing if you back up your real veil with this amazing cosmetic "veil."

And it will be your Easter gift . . . if, within the next ten days or so, you take advantage of the powder special which accompanies it! You'll get an elegant little purse-size compact, with coronet decorations, full of the "veil of beauty" foundation . . . and a special $2 value box of gossamer and beautiful face powder . . . all for $1!

Everything is done up in a way that will tickle your frivolous, feminine taste . . . the white and mahogany packages are tied together with shimmering cellophane.

To learn about this introductory special on a new, velvety "veil of beauty" make-up base, given with a $2 box of powder, both for $1 . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A HEARTS AND FLOWERS complexion can go under your Easter bonnet . . . to look as soft and perfect as Ellen Drew's . . . if you use the new "veil of beauty" make-up base which has just arrived in Boston . . . and is described today by Arline Gould.

Love and Marriage

Poor Matrimonial Risk?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm 23, a high school graduate, in a small business of my own, and have the family car mostly to myself. Whenever I get a boy friend he happens to be without his own car, so we generally use mine. Do you think I'm too forward?

I've been going with a boy now for seven months, but we don't seem to get along. We are always arguing. I don't seem able to keep him interested. He drinks heavily spends all his money and forgets his promises, acts like a fool and afterward regrets it and wants to come back.

He says he drinks because he hasn't a home. I encourage him to stay sober, work and save so that we can settle down, as I don't have a home either. I board with an aunt. I care enough for him to get married, but am not sure about him. He's the happy-go-lucky type, although I know there's no other girl.

Do you suppose he'll reform if he settles down? I'll depend on you to decide. He's 24 years old. A.J.

When you see a young man's faults as clearly as you've stated them in your letter to me, how can you consider marrying him? He drinks, wastes his money, you quarrel, and he tells you he does these things because he has no home. Don't you realize that people without backbone, weak and characterless, would bring these faults into your home?

You must be well and affectionately cared for or the family would not give you their car to the extent they do. At 23, you're too young to spoil your life with this kind of a marriage. Try and make something of yourself and doubtless the fates will have a more promising suitor in store for you.

"HOLLYWOOD TODAY," by Louella O. Parsons, noted filmland authority, appears regularly in the Boston Evening American.

Vincent Club Play April 17

Vincent Club members are counting the days they have left to put the finishing touches on costumes, polish up their dance routines and plan their make-up for the annual musical extravaganza "Tonight at Nine" on the boards April 17 [illegible] and 19 at John Hancock Hall.

In addition to the large cast of leading ladies and chorus girls to be culled from among the club's younger members, a large executive committee is working for the success of the show, and there's a list of patronesses which reads like the pages of the social register.

Included among the patronesses are Mrs. Gordon Abbott, Mrs. William T. Aldrich, Mrs. Robert M. B. Barton, Miss Margaret Perry Black, Miss Louisa Barbour, Mrs. Frederic Bradlee, Jr., Mrs. Amos F. Breed, Mrs. John T. Bottomley, Mrs. Harry Burnett, Mrs. S. Dorre Bush, 2d, Miss Elizabeth Cotton, Miss Leslie Newell Chase, Mrs. Henry Davenport, Miss Priscilla Crocker, Mrs. Eben S. Doolittle, Miss Betty Dumaine, Miss Anne Brown Eliot, Mrs. Philip Van R. Ely and Mrs. John F. Enders.

Also Mrs. Dudley L. Pickman, Jr., Miss Frances Pierce, Mrs. Parsons Plummer, Mrs. Edmond Mark Poulin, Mrs. Augustus L. Putnam, Mrs. Francis M. Rackemann, Mrs. William A. Read, Miss Emily S. Reed, Mrs. Gordon Rentschler, Mrs. John C. Rice, Mrs. J. Hampden Robb, Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall, Mrs. R. Lentner Sewall, Mrs. Percival D. Shepherd, Mrs. Richard Storey, Jr., Mrs. George P. Sturgis and many others.

Woman Guest Served First

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I want very much to do things right when I have guests at dinner in my home. But one question always bothers me. Is the hostess to be served first or the woman guest of honor? And, after that first service, does the maid just continue around the table?

C.

I am on the side of those who maintain that the woman guest of honor, the lady on the host's right, should be served first. Both courtesy and logic demand this. One of the first rules of courtesy is to give honor where honor is due. It is obvious that the unthinking hostess honors herself when she is the first recipient of the untouched dish with the unused serving-spoon and serving-fork.

In my observation of host cases who have themselves served first— and, unfortunately, there are many of them—I am convinced that they do this without thinking about what they are doing. They may do it because Mrs. Brown does it. Or if their waitress has been trained to serve the hostess first, they may conclude that this is the proper service.

Every hostess wants to have her table-service considered the acme of courtesy. She gives deep thought to her table-setting, to the artistry of her centerpiece, to her choice and placing of the table appointments. Then the thinking hostess should give just as much thought to the courteous sequence of her service. She makes her bow of honor to the guest of honor by having her served first.

Then the waitress passes the serving-dish around the table to the right. The hostess is served in her turn, half-way around the table, and this means that the host is served last.

Opera Singers Will Be Guests

Boston's opera fans who are enjoying the feast of operas at the Metropolitan theater this week, will see many of their favorite singers in person tomorrow at the luncheon to be given at the Copley Plaza by the Metropolitan Opera Guild of New York and the Boston Opera Association.

Mrs. August Belmont, president and founder of the Opera Guild, will preside and guests of honor will include Edward Johnson, manager of the Met, and such well loved musicians as Lauritz Melchior, Kerstin Thorborg, Enrich Leinsdorf, Bruna Castagna, Alexander Kipnis and others.

Subscribers for the get-together include Mrs. S. Bruce Black, Mrs. George S. Brewert, Mrs. John J. Cornish, Mrs. Madge Fairfax, Mrs. Sterling T. Ferguson, Mrs. Ruth E. Perkins, Mrs. Walter Page Weston and Mrs. Gordon Abbott.

A CURIOUS READER—a man—writes us an interesting letter, the substance of which is: WHY DO NEW ENGLANDERS SHOW SO MUCH CONCERN FOR EASTER PARADES?

It would enlighten this correspondent to sit down with us some morning and go over our mail.

EASTER PARADE HAT
Vanity or Wisdom?

But, because this is neither practical nor ethical, we are going to let him see excerpts from various letters we have received during the past fortnight.

A Cambridge woman intends to look her best on Easter Sunday because she believes this is the patriotic thing to do. She says:

"America is one of the few remaining countries in which men and women can celebrate the glorious anniversary of the Saviour's resurrection without hypocrisy.

"Americans do not blaspheme God by uttering words of peace while they inwardly plot the destruction of enemies, real or imagined.

"When we buy a dress, hat or coat we make the purchase with the knowledge that the money we are spending will provide work and wages for other Americans who are employed in the textile and garment industries.

"This year I am going to have a complete new wardrobe and when I wear it, I am going to thank God for all the rights and privileges I enjoy as a free American."

A MOTHER'S LETTER is different, but equally inspiring. In a communication mailed from Worcester, she says:

"My son is at Camp Devens, and our prayer is that he will remain there and never be required to cross the Atlantic to die in the European war.

"Really, Mr. Editor, a mother never knows how dear and wonderful her children are until she is separated from them.

"This morning I went shopping and bought a hat and coat which I know my son will like when he sees them.

"You see, I want him to be as proud of me as I am of him. And, I assure you, we are going to make a pretty picture as he in his uniform and I in my new clothes walk to church Easter Sunday.

"I think all mothers of boys in camps should make an attempt to look their best, especially when their sons come home on furlough.

"It is the least we can do to give them the courage they need to carry on in these uncertain times."

A YOUNG WOMAN usually has a very good reason for aiming at glamour and beauty in the Easter Parade.

We think the comments of a Dorchester girl are typical. Her letter praises Miss Annice Brink's fashion advice and says:

"I want to tell you how much I appreciate Miss Brink's illustrated article showing how a girl can spend $125 for a wardrobe and wear it in 22 different ways.

"Clothes are very important to me. I must look well to hold my job and to win the promotion I am seeking. Nothing handicaps a young woman more than shabby, out-moded dresses. The average boss is too apt to think that an employe who lacks ability to select proper wearing apparel also lacks ability to do her work.

"I have another reason for wanting to be more attractive than ever before this Easter.

"My fiance was drafted into the Army six weeks ago. When his year of training ends and he returns to his work, we hope to be married.

"So, like all other soldiers' sweethearts, I am making a very special effort to appear particularly attractive.

"I want my fiance to admire me when I am with him and to remember me as the 'one girl in the world' when he goes back to camp."

THESE OPINIONS are only a few of the many that have been expressed by thoughtful New Englanders.

But we believe them to be representative of the desires of thousands of women.

At least they are sufficient to convince our curious reader that dressing up for the Easter Parade is not always the result of pride or vanity.

More often it is proof of COMMON SENSE.

WHAT doctor ushered you into the world? Have you seen the old boy lately? These queries are inspired by reading of the passing of Dr. Adolph George Rave who in 47 years delivered 3100 babies. Every year Dr. Rave sent a birthday card to each of the people he had ushered into the world. All I know about the doctor who ushered me into this vale of tears and occasional laughter is that his name was James H. Formary. I do not mention Dr. Formary's name from any memory of him but because I see it on my birth certificate which also indicates I was not born in a hospital but at home at 315 East 120th st., New York City. And that my mother at the time was 32 years, my father 40 and I was the fourth child.

SIDELIGHTS: "So you know fellows with rhyming names such as Hugh Blue and Lew Blue," writes an Iowan. "Mister, that's simply nothing. I know a fellow named Sam Damm" . . . No more potato peeling for the poor devils who are assigned to kitchen police duty. U. S. Army now uses mechanical potato peelers. I didn't think that potato peeling was so tough. What got me down was trying to scrape the grease out of those big pots and pans . . . A somewhat bitter feminine client of Chicago writes: "So now they have horoscopes for dogs. The way some women make a fuss over dogs makes me sick. The dogs have ducky-wucky little blankets, and itsy-bitsy beds and some of them even have chairs at the family table—it's disgusting. Why treat a dog as if it were a child? After all, a dog is only a beast and the place for him is in the dog-house." . . . Average airline hostess remains a hostess about 13 months and is then married. And 98 per cent of the airline hostesses marry a man connected with the airline industry or a man they met in course of their duties. I can't remember hearing or reading of any wife, who had been an airline hostess, getting a divorce . . . "If George Sisler was as you say, the fifth best first baseman of all time, please name the other four," writes a Seattle client. Certainly, sir: 1—Hal Chase; 2—Fred Tenney; 3—Frank Chance; 4—Jake Daubert.

WHY AMERICANS RIDE THE AIRLINES
Stewardesses Are Unusual Women, Durling Finds

WRITES A NEW YORKER: "My wife has secured a position at $20 a week. How much of her salary should I permit her to keep? I want to be fair but I do not want to be imposed upon by her extravagance." Am not qualified to expert on this matter. Will some working wife let us know how much her husband allows her to keep from her salary and if she considers the allowance fair . . . So Barbara Hutton's jewelry was appraised at $3,600,000 by the insurance company. That's a lot of jewelry. Only jewelry I own is a watch. I lost all my gold footballs and my fraternity pin, too.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

-:- MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—We had a smooth flight from Mobile, Ala., to Greensboro, N. C., but I must say that getting up at 4:45 a. m., seemed a trifle early! I was much impressed to be greeted at Hotel King Cotton by the proprietor and his daughter, who allowed us to go to bed for several hours.

The poor secret service man, however, who had met us and arranged to motor us to Fayetteville, said he had had no sleep because everyone was telephoning him to find out if we could drive thirty to fifty miles off our route to see some point of interest.

We proceeded leisurely by motor to Fayetteville and as we went through Ft. Bragg we picked up Maj. Eugene Harrison, one of our former White House aides who is now aide to Gen. Devers.

When the President's train pulled in, we had a few minutes before he got off and I had a chance to admire the tan acquired by all the fishermen of his party. The President looks not only tanned but very much rested and is in fine spirits.

THE GOVERNOR of North Carolina and Mrs. Broughton came in his car soon after the President arrived. Then Mrs. Broughton, Miss Thompson and I, with Maj. Harrison got into one car while the President, the Governor, the Mayor and Gen. Devers headed the procession in an open car.

We drove down the main street to the old court house, built on arches in the old days so the slave market could be held underneath the building.

The drive through Fort Bragg was extraordinarily interesting. They have expanded rapidly. In fact, I heard the general say they put up a building of some kind every thirty-two minutes!

The camp stretches twenty-five miles in length and eleven miles across.

A GREAT EFFORT is being made to provide occupation at the camp for them during leisure hours. There is an athletic program, and a group of hostesses plan entertainments in the recreation rooms. In addition, there are three movie theaters running two shows a day.

Fayetteville is a comparatively small city and this sudden addition of 65,000 men certainly has strained every facility they have.

The officers at the post, however, say that everyone in the city has co-operated marvelously and the efforts they have made to provide living quarters for the families of the non-commissioned officers, as well as for the officers' families, while keeping the rents at a reasonable level, are very much appreciated.

On the whole, the health of the boys seems to be about normal. When they were living in tents it was a trifle better than when they moved into barracks, but that is almost always true.

We drove slowly, watching them perform their usual tasks. I could not help being impressed by "young America."

Broadway Medley

A NEW JOURNEY FOR WILLKIE?

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 2—WENDELL WILLKIE: Here's a trail for you to follow: A member of the White House circle soon will leave for London, Africa, Greece, China and Australia—a single trip, to make a study of defenses there . . . ED FLYNN: The President will have a meeting of all his defense group co-ordinators in ten days. And as soon as he returns to his office, there'll be a shake-up in the program executives . . . HENRI HAYE: Isn't it true that Chautemps, the ex-Premier who is here now—although all the Premiers under whom he worked in France are in jail—is running the French embassy? He's being credited with the food-for-France deal . . . GERTRUDE LAWRENCE: Noel Coward was called back to London. Eddie Cantor will substitute for Noel, on the Campbell Playhouse broadcast scheduled for next Friday.

• • •

FIORELLO LaGUARDIA: Tom Dewey doesn't plan to run for re-election. He's trying to arrange a bi-partisan nomination for one of his aides, as district attorney . . . ATTY.-GEN. JACKSON: If you'll study Harry Bridges' birth certificate, you will notice a remarkable statement recorded thereon. It says that he wasn't present at the time of his birth . . . SOPHIE TUCKER: Your son, Bert, is at Fifth Avenue Hospital . . . PAUL V. McNUTT: Two royal ladies now are on your Social Security rolls—The Ranee of Sarawak and the Maharanee of Pudukkotai . . . BILL BULLITT: Pierre Cot, who was France's air minister while you were in Paris, has a new job now. He's been subsisting on lectures—and now is teaching at Yale.

JUDGE GEORGE MARTIN: Political leaders are wagering two to one that you won't be re-nominated . . . JAN VALTIN: Too bad you didn't spend Saturday night at Ellis Island—because then you might have slept in a room with a Prince. He's Prince Joseph de Chimay, member of one of the most prominent families in Belgium. He arrived on the Siboney, but his passport was not quite in order. Before friends could arrange for his release, Prince de Chimay spent the night in a dormitory on the island. As soon as he was freed, he went to Greenville, S. C., to marry a local girl . . . JOHN BARRYMORE: Elaine Barrie at last has found steady employment. She's working as a radio actress every day now, in a Hollywood station.

"BUGSY" SIEGEL: The U. S. Attorney's office in Brooklyn soon will have news for you . . . SIDNEY HILLMAN: W. S. Knudsen took his wife to the Savoy-Plaza, but refused to pose for any pictures. He told the cameraman: "No pictures on the night shift" . . . JIMMY DURANTE: George Jessel spoke at the Jackson Day dinner here, and told Jim Farley and the others: "Everyone here keeps speaking about Jackson. See how quickly they've forgotten Clayton and Durante?" . . . VARIETY: Because so many of the performances have been benefit shows, pre-arranged, the producers of "Native Son" now tabulate they've lost $7000 by that arrangement.

B'WAY ASS'N: Ben Riley's Arrowhead Inn, one of New York's best known roadhouses, was sold recently. Riley became famed as the first restauranteur to introduce frogs' legs here. The man who bought the furnishings at the auction is Ben Reuben, owner of the Asinthe House—the new restaurant which features frogs' legs . . . JOHN PERONA: Spring made its official debut at your El Morocco last night, while you were absent. Harold Gordon received a battered jaw, in the crowded cafe, while defending Leonore Lemmon's honor . . . RAYMOND MASSEY: Philip Merivale wasn't anxious to follow you at the Greek Benefit show at the Music Hall Friday night. Merivale did a scene from "Valley Forge," in which he played Washington. He knew that you'd do the curtain speech from "Abe Lincoln in Illinois." Merivale said when he learned he'd go on before you, "I say—I'm grateful to American history—that Washington preceded Lincoln."

THOMAS MANN: Your friend, Louis Nizer, said. "Germany is not a country which has an army. It is an army which has a country" . . . ARCHIBALD MacLEISH: The President soon will announce another edition of his collected speeches and state papers. BOOK PUBLISHERS ASS'N: Postmaster General Walker has reported favorably on the bill to reduce postage on books.

BOSTON After DARK

AROUND THE BANDSTAND of the Clyde McCoy orchestra, it will not be healthy to murmur the traditional malediction of show-business: "May all your children be acrobats!" . . . For two of the McCoy musicians have just been featured in a double-wedding at St. Joseph's Church, West End . . . And strangely enough, both of the brides are acrobats—acrobatic dancers.

THE PRINCIPALS were Michael Donio, the first sax player of the McCoy unit; Miss Mary Miller, who is a member of the Three Arnolds; Vincent Longo, Clyde's drummer-man, and Miss Helene Nolan, who hails from New York and has been headlined at such prominent cabarets as the late International Casino.

AFTER MISS MILLER became Mrs. Donio she proceeded to join her act, which is working currently at Blinstrub's, in South Boston . . . Another Donio boy, Thomas, was best man . . . He also works in the reed and woodwind section of the McCoy orchestra.

THE HONEYMOON OF THE LONGOS will not be interrupted by the need of the bride to be on hand when her cue comes to go into her dance . . . The former Miss Nolan has retired from the profession in exclusive favor of matrimony.

RECOMMENDED BY AN EPICURE—Mi gosh no, not for us—for epicures: Boiled beef and horseradish sauce as concocted by the chef at Warmuth's . . . It is a Tuesday special, and we would not bet that it won't be a twice-a-week dish before long . . . If the chef wishes an excuse to make it a Tuesday and Saturday item, he might add a broiled banana—Saturdays only.

SPEAKING OF SERVICE, the lads are talking about a very swank Turkish bathhouse where they keep a midget on the payroll—just to massage your gums.

THAT RODY S-SOMETHIN' who scored another knockout at the quarter-finals in the Garden last night may be planning to do exactly what the tub-thumpers say he's going to do, that is to make Boston his headquarters and start his professional career as a new "Boston strong boy." . . . The only paradox in the situation is that Uncle Mike Jacobs, the boxing-business, owns 50 per cent of Rody's contract already—as Dan Parker says—yet.

INCIDENTALLY, and not only because he's always nice to us, we can't remember a more affable and altogether gracious ticket-seller than Joe Soucy of the aforesaid Boston Garden . . . If a contest were to be held to determine the most pleasant box-office man in the city—which isn't at all likely—a small legion would be in Joe's corner.

IT IS STRICTLY NONE of our business, but the able press-agents of Victor Mature, the oh-so-handsome Apollo of "Lady in the Dark" (and assorted motion pictures,) may be overdoing this Great Lover build-up for their client.

AFTER LINKING THE MATURE name with more damsels than even Franchot Tone has been able to get himself rumored as squiring, Victor's press-agents are now making him the hero of this gag: "The Victor Mature invitation: 'You must come up and have a scotch and sofa.'"

FRANCES FOLGER, the talented pianiste at Dinty Moore's, is a guest of honor at the Bette Davis party scheduled for Saturday at the Davis-Farnsworth manse in Sugar Hill, hills of New Hampshire . . . When Arthur Farnsworth, Bette's husband, was a bachelor, he was "regular" at Dinty's, we have just learned . . . It was his insistence that caused Miss Folger to be included in the guest-roll. (Not that his wife remonstrated) . . . Miss Folger, if she decides to make it a busman's holiday, will be a very welcome guest at anybody's weekend party where there's a piano around . . . Or even if there isn't.

BETTE WILL STAR IN NEW FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Bette Davis

HOLLYWOOD, April 2—Just as I was getting ready to put my column on the teletype a telegram arrived saying that the Ethel Barrymore play, "The Corn Is Green," by Emlyn Williams, had been bought by Warner Brothers for Bette Davis and Ida Lupino.

Won't that be something to star the two queens of the lot in one movie?

Jack Warner saw the Williams play in London when it opened there and he had never stopped trying to buy it from Warners. The asking price was $150,000 but I understand from New York that you can safely cut that in half and arrive at the right figure.

SALLY EILERS

Every studio in the business was bidding for this smash Broadway hit and it looked, at one time, as if Metro might win but they voted against it because of certain situations that seemed difficult to handle. Hal Wallis will put one of Warners' best writers to work to overcome any such difficulties. I suppose Bette will play the Barrymore role and Ida the part of the girl who leads the coal miner astray.

I HAVE ALWAYS SAID that Sally Eilers is one of the very prettiest girls in Hollywood and that she has genuine acting talent. If Sally weren't married to Harry Joe Brown, successful producer, and she had to work hard to make a living, she'd probably now be on Broadway or doing something important in the movies, but when you have a comfortable home, an adoring husband and a little son, it is difficult to concentrate on a career. Sally now will check in at Columbia with Donald Woods in "I Was A Prisoner On Devil's Island," with Lew Landers directing.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Ann Dvorak reveals that Leslie Fenton is now a commissioned officer in the British navy. Victor Mature and Virginia Fields have discovered each other in New York and are at all the night spots together.

Ken Murray squiring Kay (Tillie the Toiler) Harris to the Pirates' Den; Billy Bakewell and Tanya Widrin, who once occupied Rudy Vallee's attentions, at a table for two at the Seven Seas; Pat Knowles is visiting his old friend Errol Flynn in San Diego.

Monday night at the Mocambo was plenty gay. Norma Shearer brought most of her dinner party honoring Jean Gabin there to dance. The French favorite had a chance to see some Hollywood night life; Jock Whitney and the Charlie Feldmans, Sylvia Fairbanks, the Andrew Davens, Minna Wallis, David Lewis and Mrs. Black were among those who went Mocamboing; Myrna Loy, Arthur Hornblow, Gene Markey and the Bob Rubins, other members of Norma's party, went on home. Norma looked so well in the smart new leopard skin coat which she just bought in New York and her new hair-do.

FARMER BROMFIELD on his farm in Ohio had an idea for a novel that he knew was good. So he sent it to M-G-M after he had written an outline. Almost as soon as "Mrs. Parkington" (that's what he is calling his story) was received here, a check was sent Bromfield for the film rights. The idea is tremendous—as effective in the telling as "Cimarron." It is a cavalcade of American women starting with the first one in a family who was a pioneer and including four generations. The first Mrs. Parkington helped build a fabulous fortune of one of the wealthy and aristocratic American families. The last Mrs. of 1941, is a modern of the present day generation.

THE LILLIAN GISH deal with Lester Cowan is on the carpet again and very hot. If Lillian can get her release from Oscar Serlin, producer of "Life With Father" and be here May 10, she'll co-star with Ida Lupino in "Ladies In Retirement." Lillian, who was at one time the most important star in the entire motion picture business, naturally wouldn't consent to be seen in a minor part, but in the Estelle Winwood role she wouldn't need to fear being submerged. You can't tell me that the stars of yesterday haven't still many, many fans who would welcome them back into the movie fold. There's really a tendency more and more to bring old favorites back.

Lily Pons Scores Triumph in Hub Opera Season Opening

Sings 'Daughter Of Regiment'

By LEO GAFFNEY

It was prima donna night at the opera. Lily Pons, greatest drawing card in the business, to be "The Daughter Of The Regiment" as well as the toast of the town. And it did seem as if some top-hatted gentleman ought to have poured a slipper full of champagne and downed it, if only to keep the old tradition going.

There was champagne downstairs, of course, but we sissies [illegible] drink it out of [illegible].

It is, incidentally, a curious thing about Boston's 1941 season of the Metropolitan Opera that the audiences, though greater than ever, are more subdued. Just nobody at all yelled Bravissima at delectable Lily last night.

There were a couple of Bravas after the famous "Farewell" aria, but nothing like the tornado the little lady would have aroused in other times.

SPECTACULAR OCCASION

Is it possible that the Metropolitan movie palace is a politer place? Why, they can make more noise in Symphony Hall of a Friday afternoon!

Nevertheless it was a spectacular occasion, with Mademoiselle Lily tearing off a triumph of cuteness and vocalism unequalled by her in any previous Boston appearance.

The music, written at a time when Donizetti was being pushed hardest by Bellini and Rossini, is all of the smatter Gallic school, out of the hurdy-gurdy class and made to order for the most electrifying coloratura of this age.

No doubt about it, "Daughter of the Regiment" remains as Donizetti's most vital score.

DOWN MELODY LANE

"Daughter" is all down melody lane, light and lilting every step of the way, with nice things for all to sing and a bunch of choruses that are almost in the category of household favorites.

Because of its famous "Rutaplan," the drum dance, the Farewell aria—Donizetti's most substantial music—and the Song of the Regiment, ending up in the unashamed theatricism of a flag-waving finale with the "Marseillaise," you could almost call it musical comedy.

Certainly the plot is reminiscent of musical comedy, and with the same pretty unreality. There is the little Marie, found as a baby on the battlefield; adopted by the Tyrolean regiment to be its vivacious vivandiere, and who should she turn out to be but the daughter of a Marchioness! There was "that note" pinned to her baby underclothes that proved it all.

TOY SOLDIERS AND ALL

It was good to see that the Metropolitan producers staged it just so, making it with good, gaudy candy-box colors, like the wonderful dream of a child, toy soldiers and all.

As indicated, Miss Pons seemed

On the same screen, you'll be seeing "Footsteps in the Dark," which permits Errol Flynn, co-starring with Brenda Marshall, to get out of his clanking armor and into a wardrobe of well-cut sack suits.

BETTE DAVIS AT TREMONT

Bette Davis and Charles Boyer are starred in "All This, and Heaven Too," which will have top place on the Tremont screen bill for the last of the week.

'MR. AND MRS. SMITH' WILL ARRIVE ON KEITH MEMORIAL SCREEN TOMORROW

ARTIST GENE WIDHOFF'S pencil cleverly caricatures the lovely Carole Lombard's features in this sketch of the blonde actress who is starred with Robert Montgomery in RKO Radio's "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." This Alfred Hitchcock-directed comedy opens a week's engagement tomorrow on Keith-Memorial screen.

Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery Co-Star in Film

Teamed together for the first time, Carole Lombard and Robert Montgomery in "Mr. and Mrs. Smith," filled with matrimonial mixups and romantic complications, comes to the screen of the Keith Memorial Theater tomorrow.

The 1940 Academy Award winners, Ginger Rogers and James Stewart, are co-starred in "Vivacious Lady," which is billed as companion feature. The latest edition of "Information Please," with Alice Marble as guest expert, completes the screen program.

Hailed elsewhere as the smartest marital comedy of the season, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" presents Miss Lombard and Mr. Montgomery as a scrappily married couple who suddenly discover their wedding of three years previous, is actually null and void.

In their emotional rebound they find their romance has become a triangle, with the husband's partner stepping in as a rival for the heroine's hand—if of course she doesn't remarry her ex-husband.

The ensuing complications lead up to the picture's hilarious climax, with Gene Raymond as the partner sharing mirth-making honors with the two stars, and Philip Merivale, Betty Compson, Jack Carson, Lucille Watson and other noted players in important supporting roles.

Because the puritanical father of a young college instructor brands him as a blackguard for marrying a pretty cafe entertainer in "Vivacious Lady," James Stewart proceeds to live up to his parent's direful judgement, providing a series of mirth provoking events. James Ellison, Charles Coburn, Beulah Bondi and Frances Mercer are included as supporting players.

Western Wonderland At South Station

South Station Theater screen unreels the eye-popping beauties of America's great Western parks—Zion, Yellowstone, the Grand Canyon and California's celebrated Redwood Forest—in its current featured short, "Western Wonderland."

in excellent voice and fettle though there were whispers from backstage that a cold had threatened. The curtain did not go up until 9:40, which was most ominous. There must have been some anxious moments behind the scenes.

Especially good singing and acting by Raoul Jobin, who displayed a ringing tenor voice at Tonio; Irina Dettina, as the much embarrassed Marchioness, and Salvatore Baccaloni, as the comic Sergeant.

After the first act Mr. Baccaloni wisely chose to moderate the booming vibrato of his normal bass better conforming to the lyric surroundings.

"Tristan" is due this afternoon at 1:45, "Rigoletto" at 8:30.

No Tobacco Road Quiet for Him

JohnBarton, the Jecter Lester of "Tobacco Road," always gets a hotel room in the center of the business section of a city.

Rumbling trucks, noisy trolleys, honking taxicabs and street calls cannot disturb his slumber. The peaceful atmosphere of the country produces insomnia. Barton cannot sleep in rural settings.

"Perhaps it is the result of troupping the world for 41 years," says the actor coming to the Plymouth in "Tobacco Road" April 14, "but the unexpected sounds in the country keep me awake all night and the fresh air acts like poison. A fireman's siren has less effect than the chirping of a robin."

LUCILLE BALL is the girl of the Harold Lloyd production, "A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," RKO Radio's new comedy, in which George O'Brien and Edmond O'Brien are also starred. It is to be seen on Paramount and Fenway screens tomorrow.

U. S. Acts to Cut Phone Toll Rates

WASHINGTON, April 2 (INS)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and 21 associated companies were ordered by the Federal Communications Commission today to show cause why their long distance toll rates should not be reduced.

Love Triangle Has Four Sides!

What happens when a girl finds herself in love with two men at once—and with marriage to one of them only a few hours away?

"A Girl, a Guy and a Gob," RKO Radio's new comedy vehicle for George Murphy, Lucille Ball and Edmond O'Brien, has the answers—and they're reported to be funny. It opens tomorrow on the Paramount and Fenway screens.

Murphy plays the role of a happy-go-lucky sailor, and O'Brien, a meteoric film newcomer, that of a staid business man, with Miss Ball as O'Brien's pretty secretary and Murphy's fiancee.

The cast, in addition to the trio of principals, include Henry Travers, Franklin Panghorn, George Cleveland, Katheleen Howard and Lloyd Corrigan.

Teamed with it will be "Scotland Yard. Nancy Kelly, Edmund Gwenn and John Loder are the picture's stars.

So the Judge Obliges Him

When Richard K. Dey of Worcester st., Wellesley, declared in Dedham Probate Court today "you can send me to jail if you want to," Judge James F. Reynolds took him at his word.

Dey was sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction, for contempt of court.

Dey, a 22-year-old laundryman and plumber's helper, had been brought into court by his 22-year-old wife, Mrs. Audrey M. Dey of College ave., Somerville, who was granted a divorce in Dedham Court Feb. 11.

Mrs. Dey was awarded custody of the couple's year-old child, Richard, and $10 a week support.

"Your honor, I don't mind paying for my child, but I won't pay a cent for my wife," Dey said. "You can send me to jail if you want."

Fined in Attack On Constable

The only reason Constable Charles Broad could give today in Brighton court for what he alleged was an unprovoked assault on him by Thomas A. Reardon, of Washington st., Brighton, was that he once served him with a writ for failure to pay his rent.

Broad said Reardon insulted him Saturday night, and finally attacked him with his fists.

A girl, Sylvia Freedman, of Nottinghill rd., Brighton, who said she saw the encounter from an auto, corroborated Broad's story.

Judge Thomas H. Connolly found Reardon guilty, fined him $50 for assault and battery, $5 for drunkenness.

Chirps of 80 Canaries Spur Him To Divorce Court

WORCESTER, April 2 (AP)—Lester Goodale of Royalston likes canaries, but 80 of them around the house were too many for him, so he applied for a divorce in probate court in Fitchburg today.

Supper Pancakes Are Good!

By MARTHA LEE

WHEN IT COMES to the question of "What will it be instead of meat?" homemakers are prone to fall back upon such old reliables as broiled fish or scrambled eggs. Both good—but how about something the family never heard of before? How about Supper Pancakes?

Supper pancakes are a far cry from the morning flapjacks. You start with a batter and griddle, but into that batter you dip thin slices of American cheese. Fried golden brown and served piping hot, they're really pretty super.

SUPPER PANCAKES

2 eggs
2½ cups milk
3 cups flour
2 tbsp. baking power
1½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. dry mustard
1-3 cup melted fat
1 cup all-bran
15 thin slices American cheese

Beat eggs, add milk and mix well. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and mustard; add to first mixture, stirring until flour disappears. Add melted and cooled fat, and all-bran. Dip cheese slices in batter and bake on hot griddle, turning over once. Makes 15 cakes (5½ inches in diameter).

Salmon Chowder Pie works such miracles with a can of salmon that even the cat wouldn't recognize it. Not just creamed salmon in a deep dish, but salmon, plus carrots, plus potatoes and peas. Then you top the whole works with light golden bran biscuit dough and bake.

SALMON CHOWDER PIE

4 tbsp. chopped onion
4 tbsp. fat
4 tbsp. flour
1 cup water drained from cooked vegetables
2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ cups cooked diced potatoes
1 cup cooked sliced carrots
1 cup cooked peas
1 lb. canned salmon
1 recipe all-bran biscuit

Simmer onion in fat until tender. Add flour, stir to smooth paste. Add liquid ingredients; cook until thickened. Add seasonings, vegetables and flaked, boned salmon. Pour into large greased baking dish, cover with unbaked all-bran biscuit or all-bran biscuit dough rolled to fit dish. Bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 20 minutes or until biscuit is done. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

ALL-BRAN BISCUIT

½ cup all bran
⅔ cup buttermilk
1½ cups flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. soda
1-3 cup shortening

Soak all-bran in buttermilk. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and soda together. Cut in shortening until mixture is like coarse cornmeal. Add soaked all-bran; stir until dough follows fork around bowl. Turn onto floured board, knead lightly a few minutes; roll or pat to ½-inch thickness and cut with floured butter.

Note—Sweet Milk Recipe. If sweet milk is used instead of buttermilk, omit soda and increase baking powder to 3 teaspoons.

BAKED FISH

Eastern Shore Baked Fish traces its ancestry back to Maryland. First, you have the fish man cut your fish into one-serving pieces. These you dip in salted milk, roll in finely rolled corn flake crumbs, and arrange on a well-oiled baking sheet. Sprinkle with oil, slip into a very hot oven (500 deg. F.). Ten minutes later your dinner is ready.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

All this fuss about "Dead End Kids"—and high time there was BUT HOW ABOUT "DEAD END MOTHERS?

It seems to me that one problem yells as loudly for solution as the other.

As a social menace, I can see very little difference between the youngster who spends his afternoon smoking "snipes" down the alley and his mother, who does the same thing hanging over some bridge table.

WHAT MAKES a "Dead End?" A street that stops going. What makes a Dead End Kid—or Mother? A life that stops going. The whole problem boils down to that: streets and lives are intended to circulate, to get some place, mean something fine and useful. They weren't meant to go stagnant, or run amuck, like so many coyote trails. And it's a Mother's job to keep young lives from running amuck.

It wasn't easy. It wasn't fun. It was, often, extremely unpopular. But they "saw their job and they did it"—and, although there were always rebellious kids, you never heard of a "juvenile crime wave." And you wouldn't be hearing of it now if the Mothers of America would stop being Girlish and Glamorous and get back on their jobs as their Mothers did before them.

WHY shouldn't Junior hang around the juke joints if Mama herself believes that fun and excitement are the great things in life and treats the home as a temporary parking station?

WHY shouldn't sister believe that a permanent wave and a delicatessen salad are sufficient to hold a marriage together, if she has seen Mom handing Dad that kind of a deal all her life?

I'm not saying that all, or even a large percentage of American mothers are such flops. But I do believe that the standards in many of our homes have grown so lax that they're as great a peril to national security as any foreign foe.

A woman does not have to drink, gamble or loaf to be a "DEAD END" mother. She can be a domestic model or pillar of the church, yet so limited and an[illegible] [illegible] only a dodo could respect her [illegible] thereto.

Worst of all, she can be so lacking in gumption that she daren't stand up to her children and say "No!"

THIS LAST weakness, I believe, tops all others in bringing about our present juvenile deliquency. We've grown afraid to tackle the selfishness, rebellion and general rowdyism of our own brats!

Far be it from me to advocate the old woodshed, but there's a wide difference between using grandpaw's razor strop and giving Snooky-ookums every lollipop he craves, regardless of consequences.

There never yet was a real youngster who wouldn't get by with murder if he could—then despise you for letting him.

CHENEY'S ROACH POWDER Does The Trick

THEY EAT IT AND DIE

Cockroaches Are Dangerous Germ Carriers

EASY TO GET EASY TO GET RID OF

Cockroaches carry germs of disease and filth from cellars and sewers to the pantry shelves and food containers.

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET RID OF THEM

DON'T

Here are two Don'ts when you get cockroaches and water bugs.

(1) Don't get panicky and move out. It costs $25 or more to move out, while a can of Cheney's Killer costs 25c. Move the cockroaches out.

(2) Don't get mad at cockroaches. It's no disgrace to get them. It happens to the best of families, but it is a disgrace to keep them. Treat them as Pests, not Pets.

There is one sure and safe way to rid the house of the pests. Roaches are night feeding bugs. They don't appear until late, and then the entire family turns out for its daily meal. Feed them something they like better than ordinary food. Cheney's formula is safe enough to spread on your pantry shelf. We guarantee

A New Twist on Learning!

Mounties Get Their Man

By George Dixon

CLIFFORD PASCOE GIBSON had just acquired a police record and was becoming prouder of it by the minute. Echoes of his crime were resounding across the Saskatchewan prairies from Regina to Moose Jaw and the whole business was doing horrid things to the morale of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

In fact those gallant guardians of His Majesty's law and order were beginning to blench beneath their outdoor bronze whenever they heard the dark deed mentioned.

Cliff's exultation in his new role as Pale Terror of the Plains was not unadulterated, however. Dorothy McCannell, whose opinion he valued highly, refused to share his pride in the infamy. She had been present, and an eyewitness. Miss McCannell insisted he should be crushed—a haunted, stricken thing—instead of revelling in his iniquity.

"I think it was terrible," she interrupted, when Cliff prefaced another conversation with, "When I was in the clink . . ." She tossed an exceedingly good-looking head, thereby nullifying a full half hour's labor on a new coiffure. "You embarrassed me to death. Besides, I admire the mounties. My goodness, that big one even apologized to me before he punched you."

"He was a corporal," said Cliff.

"I don't care what he was . . . What's that got to do with it?"

"Nothing," murmured Cliff. "I just thought you might want to have all the facts straight."

Dorothy glared.

"You don't," added Cliff, "need to look at me as if I were the dregs of the underworld."

His descent into villainy had been precipitated by loyalty—frenzied devotion to the Moose Jaw Caribous, a hockey team that failed to win many games but left casualties strewn over the wide open spaces from Saskatoon to Sintaluta. A rival player, checked by a Caribou, was liable to stay checked for days.

Moose Jaw, as of course you know, is a division point on the Canadian Pacific Railway, a full day's train ride west of Winnipeg. It is what might be called a garden spot, if you don't care much for gardens, and owes its name to a gabby and long-winded Indian who called it: "The-creek-where-the-white-man-mended-the-cart-with-a-moose-jaw bone." The Chamber of Commerce is still looking for that Indian.

The Caribous, having recently added a couple of hatchetmen to the player roster, had high-sticked and clipped their way into a consecutive winning streak of two games, even though the performers spent almost as much time in the penalty box as on the ice. The Regina Gophers, who leaned to the silly, new-fangled notion a team could score without denting a skull, were on top, having won 13, lost 4, tied 3.

Hockey up that way bears a superficial resemblance to the game you've probably seen in New York's Madison Square Garden, Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, or Montreal's Forum, but only superficial. The simple, unaffected lads of the prairies can't be annoyed with all that strategy stuff; they try to get goals in the most direct manner possible.

Also they play with more innocent zest. When a player goes stupid, like falling for that oldest gag in hockey, a foeman's unprincipled cry of "Here I am, Amby old boy—pass it to me!" his teammates don't smile compassionately and tell him better luck next time. They thump him on the nose.

CLIFF MAKES MERRY

The night of Cliff's abomination, the Caribous were playing the Gophers in Regina, and a special train carried a notable percentage of Moose Jaw's 20,000 poulation to the scene of gore. Cliff was aboard, and so was Dorothy, but against her better judgment.

During the 35-mile trip eastward, Cliff found it imperative he look up friends in various parts of the train. After about the fifth conference he returned to find Dorothy working up a fair huff.

"Why don't you look up the engineer while you're at it," she sniffed. "Maybe he has a bottle, too."

By the time the train reached Grand Coulee, Cliff was standing in the aisle loudly proclaiming he would bet all the money he had in the world (amount unstated) that the Caribous would win by a least 20 goals.

With Dorothy acting as guide, because Cliff seemed to feel he should get on the ice and make a speech, they found their seats in the arena, alongside a few of the merrier minds of Moose Jaw, including Wilbur Grayson, Pally Henderson and a splay-footed fellow who for no readily apparent reasons was called Minorkey.

Directly in front were three mounties from the Regina barracks, strapping fellows running lavishly to height, sinew, and fur jackets. They also wore fur caps—fetching bits of millinery replete with squirrel-tail tassels, which dangled lovingly down the left side of their heads.

The appendages of the departed squirrels seemed to affect Cliff deeply.

"Think of those great big men ganging up on a poor little squirrel and snitching his tail," he mourned loudly. The mounties fidgetted and kept silent.

A stern rule of that splendid body of men is that they keep free from local partizanship. Cliff took it as a direct affront to himself and the King when the three began rooting for Regina.

"I think they're fakes," he confided in a whisper that couldn't be heard more than 50 feet away. "Probably going on to a masquerade."

Just then Sparrow, Moose Jaw's right defense, got a bony shoulder under Robbins, Gopher left wing, and heaved him into the boards. Robbins was dragged off, kicking feebly, and Sparrow went to the box.

"That Sparrow ought to be in jail," commented a mountie. "I'd like to get my hands on him."

"Pray you never do," Cliff butted in. "You'd have to call a policeman."

"I wasn't talking to you," said the mountie, too quietly.

Playing a man short, Moose Jaw dropped back for the attack. The puck came loose in a mixup five feet from its goal, whereupon four Caribous scooted up the ice, chased by five infuriated Gophers—and scored before the Gopher goalie had a chance to pull himself together.

The pixies must have held a convention in Cliff's brain. Before Dorothy's horrified gaze, he snatched a mountie's cap by the tassel, swung it three times around his head, and heaved it far out on the ice.

A startled referee retrieved it and handed it back to the owner, who had climbed down to the rinkside followed by bellows of laughter. The mountie's eyes were giving a fair imitation of the northern lights when he returned but otherwise he seemed to have himself in hand.

"Don't do that again," he warned Cliff with deadly emphasis, "or you won't think its funny."

"How do you know?" retorted Cliff. "I'm amused very easily."

THE LAST STRAW

Luckily the Gophers staged a distraction. They bore down on the enemy goal, passing like mad.

Sparrow, his sentence served, tried to intervene and was knocked bodily into his own net. Harris, Caribou goalie, plopped on top of him as did two other Caribous and three Gophers.

Pulling a skate here, an arm there, the officials disentangled the mass and then peered down to see if a goal had been scored. The puck had vanished!

It was too much for Cliff. "Hurrah!" he yelled—and grabbed a tail. "A disappearing puck! Look—I can do tricks, too!" The cap sailed to dizzy heights and plopped down on a spectator.

The bereft mountie swung around, but a comrade pulled him back, pointing to the ice. The referee was chasing after Sparrow who had skated to the dasher wall, his face bland with innocence. The official gave Sparrow's sweater an upward tug—and out bounced the puck. Amid mingled howls and guffaws the referee signaled for the red lamp to be lighted back of the Caribou cage.

"Thief!" yelled Cliff. "He planted that puck on poor Sparrow."

"You pipe down," menaced the mountie, who had just returned with his cap. "Another move or yelp out of you and they'll be looking for the pieces."

Dorothy clapped her hand over Cliff's mouth to stifle the retort. In fact, she succeeded in keeping him repressed until the middle of the last period. Then, with the score still tied at 1-1, Doran, Caribou right wing, shot a long pass to McIntyre, his center. Adams, Gopher left defense, intercepted the pass but got twisted in his skates. He tried to heave the disc out of danger—and flipped it neatly into his own net.

Of course there was only one thing to do, and Cliff did it. He got the mountie's cap all right, but this time something else with it. He heard the fellow apologize to Dorothy for stooping to violence; then a cannon exploded in his face. The ice seemed to heave and buckle, and the arena roof apparently caved in. Cliff came back to consciousness in a barred cubicle, on a bunk across from a shabby-looking gent who was regarding him with mild interest.

"Hi!" greeted the ill-favored one. "What they got you in for? I been waiting to ask."

"I'm Louis Riel," said Cliff, holding his head. "I started a rebellion."

"My name's Bronski," said the bum. "I got drunk."

The magistrate tried to look severe when Cliff was brought in late next morning.

A COCKY HERO

"I should make an example of you," he said, after the dire details of Cliff's transgression were spread upon the record. "But I feel justice has triumphed sufficiently. If you think you are strong enough to stand it, I'll tell you who won last night—Regina, 3 to 2, in overtime! Boy, oh boy, what a team! Oh, yes," trying to look stern again, "sentence suspended!"

Cliff was pretty chastened when he arrived home and was astounded to find himself hailed as a returning hero. The true explanation, of course, was that the team had lost and the city needed solace. It proceeded to lionize him. Under the adulation, Cliff became cockier and cockier. Only Dorothy, who continued to insist she had never been so mortified in her life, refused to join the ranks of admirers.

"You should be apologozing for what you did instead of strutting around taking bows," she snorted as he lolled beside her on the McCannell family sofa. "I'll bet the mounties don't think it's funny."

"Well," grinned Cliff, maneuvering an arm around her waist, "the mounties ought to be satisfied. They got their man, didn't they?"

"Yes," sniffed Dorothy, taking no measures, however, to evade the arm, "but I'm beginning to wish they'd gotten him a lot harder."

THE END.

Don't miss Marie de Nervaud's thrilling story on this page tomorrow. The title is "Standing By."

NO-WAR SPEAKER—At ■ Chicago rally sponsored by the America First Committee, Actress Lillian Gish told movie-goers to beware of "propaganda films" . . . like those before the last war. She admitted that she took a part in "selling the idea of hate to the American people."

Navy Calls City Health Deputy

Foston's famed Deputy Health Commissioner Dr. Frederick J. Bailey, nationally recognized specialist on contagious and tropical diseases, today was ordered to active duty as a lieutenant commander in the Navy, effective next Monday.

A veteran of the Naval Medical Corps in World War I, Dr. Bailey has been assigned as commanding officer of a new naval hospital being established at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Dr. Bailey is credited with having brought about the use of salt tablets by soldiers and sailors in the tropics as a means of lessening fatigue.

An expert on sanitation, Dr. Bailey's work here as health commissioner has resulted in a notable reduction in contagious diseases.

Hank Hero Of Army

By HERB FINNEGAN

FORT BENNING, Ga. April 2—It's been 24 years since Hank Gowdy enlisted in the army, and 22 years since he received his honorable discharge, but the Army has not forgotten him. Nor will it ever.

The first major league ball player to enlist in the World War—May 1, 1917—already has a vague idea of the esteem in which the U. S. fighting forces hold him because Gowdy Field, at Fort Benning, Ga., has been named after him; but he will be overwhelmed today when 50,000 troops stationed here turn out to honor him as the Reds and Sox clash.

"Old Glory" belongs to Cincinnati now but his heart belongs to Boston, for he spent 22 years of his attenuated baseball career there.

He came to the Braves from the Giants in July, 1911 as ballast in "OLD GLORY"—Though it's 24 years since Hank Gowdy enlisted in the U. S. Army, the soldiers boys haven't forgotten Hank. "Old Glory" was honored today on Gowdy Field (in Hank's honor) at Benning, Ga., where the Sox and Reds play before 50,000 troops. The bunting above flies every day over Gowdy Field.

the deal which sent Buck Herzog to New York and Shortstop Al Bridwell to Boston.

The big moment of his career, as old timers will remember, was the World Series of 1914 when the inspired Braves took four straight from the supposedly invincible Athletics and its $100,000 infield of McInnis, Collins, Barry and Home Run Baker.

With the exception of the war years, he played with the Braves until 1925, when he was returned to the Giants. But he came back to the Braves again as coach in '29 when Judge Emil Fuchs tried his hand at managing the club.

Bill McKechnie took over in 1930, and "Old Glory" has been with Bill since, with the Braves through '37 and now with Cincinnati.

CAIN, HILL KEEP BRUINS IN CUP SERIES

Rossmen Score Twice In 81 Seconds to Win

Apparently washed up twice, the Bruins have come up off the floor on both occasions to again pull up all even with the Leafs and bring about a seventh and final game of Series A to take place at the Boston Garden tomorrow night.

Coming from behind, those unpredictable Rossmen rammed home a pair of markers in 81 seconds to drop the highly favored Maple Leafs, 2 to 1, before a stunned gathering of close to 15,000 Torontians who were on hand for the "kill" which never came.

And it was Herb Cain and Mel Hill who wrapped the game away.

Cain slashed home the winning goal less than two minutes after Bobby Bauer had evened up the Drillon marker. And on this marker, Cain won the right to top Bruins' honors for the series.

After all, it was just last Thursday that Cain flicked home a goal which gave the Bruins a 2 to 1 win to hoist them up even with the Leafs at 2 games apiece. Last night he duplicated to again bring his mates all square at the conclusion of six games.

STYMIED TAYLOR

So to Cain goes the glory, yet this Hill is the unsung hero of the night. Apparently washed up with the Bruins, Hill has been in uniform during these past three games only because there was nobody else available.

On a hunch, Cooney Weiland shifted Hill to center, a spot he hadn't played in 10 years. He was told that he was going to divide work with Pat McCreavy in centering the Cowley line, and that his one job would be to handle Billy Taylor, the most troublesome of the Leafs.

McCreavy started and then Hill went on. The moment Weiland saw that Hill could not only stay with Taylor but could bother him no little with sweeping poke checks, he kept him as a regular and McCreavy made only one other appearance.

CHEAP SCORE FOR LEAFS

Hill so completely covered Taylor that the Leafs' ace was no threat at al.

With Billy bottled, Sweeney Schriner lost his effectiveness and there went the threat of the line that had picked up four goals and six assists in this series to date.

So, as a result, Hill and Cain take the bows. Yet they were not far ahead of the others. Everybody played his position and each man did his job to perfection according to Art Ross, who should know.

The players just felt they were going to win and never gave up. With no scoring for two and one-half periods it looked as though one goal was going to decide the issue and when Drillon flicked that first tally home at 9:47 the outlook was bad.

The Leafs' goal was of the cheap variety. Drillon took a Nick Metz pass and moved down the left lane. Jack Crawford came over and rode him along the boards past the shooting angle. Drillon, however, kept going right around the cage and with Brimsek looking for a pass out, flicked the disc for the near corner and it caromed off Brimsek's skate just over the line.

FAKED BRODA

The fans really went beserk but their joy was shortlived for just 52 seconds later the game was tied up.

Porky Dumart started the play by flailing away from the blue line. His shot caromed off Don Metz's skate right onto Bauer's stick. It looked as though Bobby was a bit too deep but he had just enough clearance in the far corner to hit inside the strings.

Then up came Cain with his "Merriwell" windup. Clapper paved the way by feeding Terry Reardon, who came down to the penalty line before passing over to Herb Cain. The Bruins' left winger was smack in front of the cage and took the pass perfectly. He faked Broda and "Turk" committed himself—that was all Herbie needed, he put it away at 12 minutes on the dot, and there was your ball game.

And as a game it was the dullest of the six played. Both teams were extremely careful and openings were far and few between.

The only worthwhile break in the monotonous play was before Drillon's goal when Schmidt and Hamilton tangled. Schmidt dropped his gloves and belted Reggie once with a right hand punch, that ended the trouble for the two were quickly separated and sent off with majors.

Cooney Makes Hit Leading Bees In Houston Game

HOUSTON, Tex., April 2 (AP)—The Boston Bees still are talking about the managerial debut of Johnny Cooney, veteran outfielder-coach. Taking a squad to Austin to play the University of Texas, Cooney didn't have to do much as manager, but he was kept busy as traveling secretary, trainer, batting practice pitcher and reserve outfielder. He also got one hit in the 8-1 victory.

BRUINS FINALLY GET SMART

Mel Hill Finds Soft Job

The mad rush for tickets to that seventh and deciding game tomorrow started early this morning and another sellout is a cinch . . . The Leafs are in perfect shape except for Broda who was nicked in the ear for two stitches . . . the Bruins are still somewhat battered. Bobby Bauer was shaken up, Des Smith has trouble keeping that left optic open, Schmidt was cut over the eye and Roy Conacher has a lip that's puffed up like a Ubangi Indian . . . The Bruins would like nothing better than to win tomorrow's affair for if they do, they should manhandle those Detroit Red Wings in the finals.

Walter Brown analyzed that sixth game prefectly by saying:

"It's the smartest hockey I've ever seen the Bruins display in a playoff game. They forgot personal grudges and didn't try to knock anybody into the seats. They also stopped trying to jam in on scoring plays and always remembered to check back and cover their men. They played the playoff type of hockey that's always been displayed by the opposition in the past."

Wally Stanowski is the cockiest kid in hockey today. After the game he chirped:

"Imagine that Bauer scoring with 'All-Star' Stanowski on the ice. I figured that he couldn't possibly shoot from that angle but he evidently had a four-inch clearance. I'll have to be more careful."

• • •

When Weiland heard about Stanowski's statement he retorted.

"That's what happens when Stanowski starts thinking."

Dr. Marty Crotty kept applying hot compresses on Des Smith's eye all Monday night and all yesterday afternoon. As a result, the eye opened enough for him to see . . . Bucko McDonald handed out several murderous legitimate checks, that really shook up the Bruins.

• • •

Mel Hill, who hasn't played 15 minutes in the past month was a changed gent on the way back to Boston. For a quiet and discouraged individual the "Sudden Death" hero of two years ago was the life of the party and insisted

Kid Bruins Edged, 4-3, In Playoffs

CLEVELAND, April 2 (AP)—Big Bill MacKenzie, their tireless captain, today was the toast of a crippled band of Cleveland Barons who believe they can't be beaten in the final playoffs for the [illegible] League hockey championship.

MacKenzie spilt the Hersheys in the closing minutes of a overtime period last night then slipped the puck past Aubuchon for the decision, 4 to 3 triumph.

The see-saw battle was the opener in a three-of-five series, with the second game scheduled here tomorrow night. The teams move to Hershey Saturday.

The Barons played without Goalie Moe Roberts. Defense Man Joe Jerwa and Winger Bill Summerhill. The latter, bothered with an ulcerated tooth, will be ready for the second clash.

Alfie Moore, the league's 36-year-old square, net tender, kicked out 31 shots for the victors.

The hard fought contest, watched by 10,126 fans, was marked by 14 penalties, including three five-minute major sentences. The rough play almost beat the Barons for the Bears drilled in two goals in 56 seconds in the second period while two Cleveland players rested in the cooler.

Gordon Bruce and Red Hamill got the quick goals for Hershey and Gordon Pettinger tied the score six minutes before the end of the regulation time.

Jake Milford, Ossie Asmundson and Les Cunningham potted the winners' regulation time goals, Les scoring on a solo dash.

Five Divisions Get New Leaders In American-Record Pin Tourney

By WALTER KILEY

The competitive wars flared wide open during the third day's competition in the American-Record candlepin championships at the Huntington Club, and scores mounted to highly respectable proportions, which contrasted nicely with the only average performances of the two opening days.

By far the most outstanding feat of the 1941 tournament was turned in by a couple of salesmen from the market district, Sol Krumins of Myrtle st., Boston, a fruit salesman, and William Clark of Fourth st., South Boston, an oil salesman.

Between the two of them, both 33 years old, they managed to romp to a mighty lead in the men's amateur doubles with a combined 668 card and then were members of the Faneuil Hall Market team, which by scoring 1511 paced the men's amateur team field.

ALL-EVENTS CONTENDER

Krumins touched off the doubles uprising with an opening string of 141 and continued merrily with 107-100 for a total of 348. Clark more than did his share with 100—, 99—121—320.

Clark, in turn, was 106—113—101—320 in the team competition and Krumins was 110—100—107—317, so that both stand an excellent chance of being formidable factors in the disposition of the highly prized all-events championships should they turn in a passing performance in their later singles efforts.

That same men's doubles field took a beating all day long. Monday's previous high mark was shattered five times before the final accounting by the Marketmen. Only a few moments before, Roy Greenquest and Ralph Santos, strapping warehouse clerks, representing the Kenmore Recreation Alleys, accounted for 628 pins.

ENTERING FOURTH DAY

A total of five new divisional leaders were honored during the third day, with three new "open" pace-setters to round out the amateur marks.

Pretty Ruth McNair and Fred McLeod, popular mixed doubles team from Joe Sacco's Wellesley Bowladrome Alleys, hit 890 for their five strings; J. Alex and J. Davis of Norwood carded a combined 1036 to lead the men's open doubles; and the Nova's Bowling Alleys five of Cambridge amassed a total of 1471 to command the men's open teams.

Another formidable schedule of participants was waiting on the firing line when today's fourth competitive day opened.

The pace is now quickening and the signs of tournament nervousness so apparent during the tournament's early stages have almost entirely disappeared so that it becomes increasingly evident that the annual assault on the presently accepted world marks may be confidently expected daily.

BEES LEAVE BROKEN HEART IN TEXAS

By BILL GRIMES

AUSTIN, Tex. April 2—Back in San Antonio, where the Bees trained for more than five weeks, there's a broken hearted boy, Billy Dale, who promoted himself into the bat boy's job for the Stengelmen the first day the squad was in the Mission City.

Billy's father, Harold S. Dale, formerly lived at 21 Worcester sq. in the South End of Boston. His aunt, Miss Marjorie Dale, lives in Allston and another, Mrs. William Fairbanks out in Saxonville. He hopes that some day he'll be able to visit with relatives here in the East.

Little Billy is a hustler, and a bright one. He's 16 years of age, but is as thin as a rail, weighing only 87 pounds. Although he told Long George Kelly, who was his boss here, that he has kept up with his school work and gets "Ps" (plus) every week, he must have missed many classes while the Bees were in San Antonio for he never missed a practice session or a game. He even made trips to New Braunfels, College Station and Austin.

YO-YO CHAMPION

Shortly after the Bees gathered in the Mission City, Billy was in a pool tournament and many of the players went out to see him in action. He's an exceptionally fine pool player, despite the fact that he was eliminated in the second round.

He is also the Yo-Yo champion of San Antonio, and during the Texas open golf championship at Willow Springs Golf Club he caddied for Jimmy Demaret.

While the Bees were training at Pitmann-Sullivan Park, one of Billy's side rackets was broken bats. He gathered every broken bat and at the end of the practise session he held an auction and sold them to colored boys, getting as much as 75 cents for some.

He was a ball hawk. Whenever a ball was hit out of Pittmann-Sullivan Park, he would take off on the dead run and seldom lost a ball.

On one occasion, a boy, who was much older and much huskier than he, retrieved a ball and refused to give it up. But wise little Billy asked to see the ball, and when he got it in his possession, dashed back through the fence to the playing field with his victim in hot pursuit.

TEARS FLOW

Billy Dale wanted to return to Boston with the Bees. Naturally, that was out of the question. But, apparently, he's dreaming of the day he'll get an opportunity to go North and visit relatives in New England.

Just before we started for the Missouri Pacific depot last night, I met Billy in the lobby of the Plaza Hotel.

"I'd sure like to be going North, with you-all," said the youngster, "Ah've got two aunts in Boston and one of them lives right close by your field. But, I don't guess Ah'll ever get to see 'em.

"You-all know ma daddy was born in Boston. I reckon from what he told me that it was on Washington st. He was a combat pilot during the World War and Ah was born over at Ashville, N. C. Ah'd sure like to see my aunties. Well, Ah'll be awaiting for you-all when you come on back here next year."

And, with tears in his eyes and bitterly disappointed that he couldn't go along with the team, Billy Dale bid good bye to the Boston Bees for a year.

RIGNEY HIT BY 'STREP'

Hank Gowdy Still Hero of U. S. Army After 24 Years

some ball players wearing gas masks when Old Hankus drew alongside. It reminded him of a story.

"We were stationed at a training school in Gondecourt, France, getting our first lessons in the use of gas masks," Hank recalled. "I had enlisted from my home town of Columbus, O., with the 166th Infantry, attached to the 42nd Division.

"One day Col. Milo Corry (a U. S. officer), asked me to put on a ball game between my division and the 26th Division, which comes from up around your way," the old color sergeant continued. "He wanted us to play one inning with gas masks, just to prove it was possible to see through them.

"We did, and do you know our center fielder actually caught a fly ball while wearing one.

"It was quite a trick, and did much to convince the boys of their practicability because they were having trouble seeing through them."

Hank saw a lot of the Yankee Division during the war, because Jimmy Coughlin, now leader of the 101st Regiment band, told the boys to look him up.

Which brings us to an interesting parallel.

Hugh Noyes Mulcahy was born Sept. 9, 1913, in Allston, right across the railroad tracks from Braves Field. Gowdy was in the infancy of his baseball career then. Now, Master Mulcahy, who was much too young to remember Gowdy in his hey-day, is the first major league ball player in the 1941 U. S. Army which is preparing for World War No. 2.

There must be something in that Allston air which makes patriots of ball players or ball players of patriots, because if you look up the records of the Allston Post, American Legion, you'll find that practically 100 per cent of the town's young baseball heroes of the day—like John Joe McHugh, Ed Driscoll, Louis Berube and Angus McDougall—answered the call long before the draft went into vogue.

And so did Gowdy. He set the pace for the major leaguers in the World War, and it is fitting that he should be so signally honored at Fort Benning today.

STRINCEVICH SHUTS OUT COLLEGIANS

AUSTIN, Tex., April 2—Before a partisan gathering of 3000 fans, the B squad of the Bees defeated the University of Texas, 8 to 1.

Nick Strincevich, Al Javery and Frank Lamanna divided the pitching for the Bees. During his three rounds, Strincevich didn't allow a hit. In fact only two Longhorns were able to hit balls to the outfield. Nick turned three back on strikes and didn't issue a walk.

Javery was nicked for two hits and had trouble in the fourth, but fast double play saved him.

Lamanna struck out three during his first two innings on the hilltop but in the ninth, he weaker and went for the lone Tex[illegible]

The Bees didn't have any pus[illegible] over in the Longhorns despite the score. Mel Deutsch was charged with three runs but with better support could have blanked the Bees

Church Trophy Goal of Boys' Fives

The President's trophy awarded each year by Frederic Cameron Church, president of the Boys' Clubs of Boston, will again be the magnet that will attract leading basketball teams from Massachusetts and Connecticut for the sixth annual New England Boys' Club championships scheduled to begin Friday night at the Eben D. Jordan Memorial Gymnasium, Charlestown.

The cup, which stands almost three feet high, has become the symbol of the highest attainments in basketball among the boys' clubs and the teams point from their opening game to the play-off.

FIELD TRIALS AT SCITUATE

The first spring field trials of the Scituate Rod and Gun Club will be held at the Lawson race track in Scituate Sunday, April 6. A large crowd is expected to turn out as the competition will be open to the public. The affair is under the direction of Frank Westerhoff, head of the field trial committee.

LISTEN TO THEM TALK ABOUT NASH!

From coast to coast, this new kind of car is the talk of automobile owners..."25 to 30 miles on a gallon of gasoline"..."Most comfortable car I ever drove"..."Biggest value offered in the lowest-price field"

Drive a new Nash just fifteen minutes—and you, too, will be telling stories like these!

K. B. K., an Indiana salesman, writes: "I could hardly believe it when I discovered the first 918 miles cost $5.70 in my new Nash. That's averaging almost 30 miles per gallon!"

P. A. S., San Francisco, says: "Gentlemen, this Nash is a honey—takes the mountain curves like you were on straight road. (Nash has special coil springing on all four wheels.) Mileage—25.6 a gallon; power—perfect!"

"Roomiest Car in Its Class"

K. G. M., Armonk, N. Y., says: "I chose Nash for more room and luxury—as well as economy. Rides better than any car I ever owned!"

S. M., Minneapolis, writes: "On one trip when we used the Convertible Bed, and averaged 26.4 miles a gallon, our Nash saved us $25."

Take a tip from the thousands on thousands who are changing to the new Nash each week. Drive this wonderful new kind of car before you decide!

BOWIE TRACK MAKES PEACE WITH JOCKEYS

BOWIE, Md., April 2 (AP)—Mrs. A. J. Abel's Honey Cloud and Ella K. Bryson's Clyde Tolson, both of which have displayed a likeness for Bowie's racing strip, topped a field of eight sprinters in the $5000 added Rome Memorial Handicap here today.

Two of the entries in the six-furlong feature were to be coupled as the entry of Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago. They are Equistar and Court Dance.

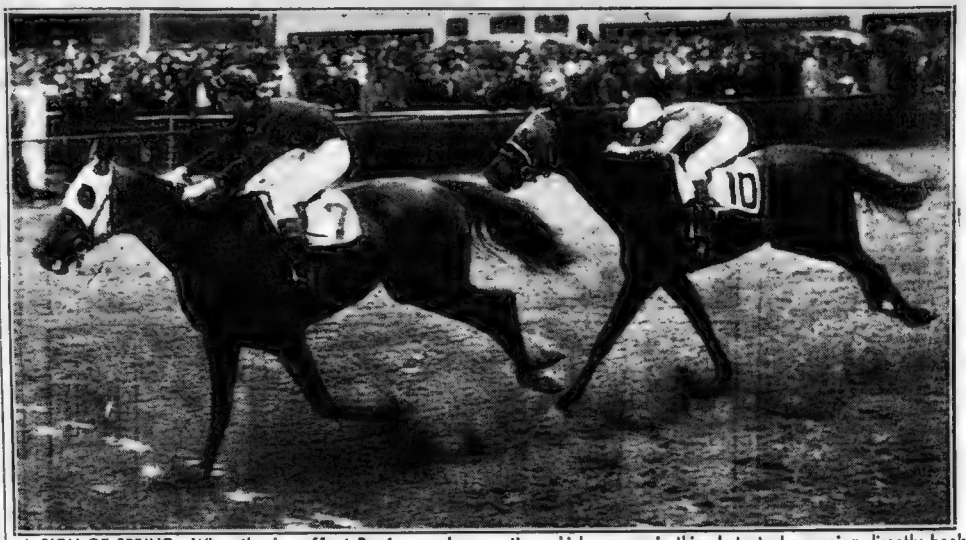
Clyde Tolson, top weighted at 122 pounds, has won five of six starts in previous meetings here, while Honey Cloud, slated to carry 118 pounds, has a record of six victories in seven Bowie appearances.

Meanwhile, Joseph A. Farrell, Bowie general manager, announced agreement on a jockey insurance plan after a strike threatened for a time to prevent the opening yesterday of the track's 11-day meeting.

The plan provides $25 a week for boys incapacitated for one year; $1000 for hospitalization and medical attention; and $5000 to the next of kin in event of death. Exercise boys will receive one-half of these benefits.

Farrell said Bowie officials personally had guaranteed the benefits until a blanket policy could be executed.

Others scheduled to go in the Rowe Memorial include Alfred Vanderbilt's Good Turn, and Victor Emanuel's Omission, both Kentucky Derby eligibles; Mrs. Anthony Pelleteri's Catapult, and Glen Falkner's Maechance.



A SIGN OF SPRING—When they're off at Bowie, you know that spring is here. Maupeace makes it official by winning the first at the Maryland track's opening. Jockey R. Poteete boots Maupeace home. Jockey H. Mora is aboard Pacification, which appears in this photo to be running directly back of Maupeace to take second. Maupeace paid $8.60 straight, a modest return, but coupled with long shot Remolee in the second brought about a double of $387.20 for $2.

Indians, Giants Travel North on Hospital Special

SELMA, Ala., April 2 (AP)—The train carrying the Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants North might be called the "hospital special." Three of Cleveland's regular infielders are ailing, First Baseman Hal Trosky with stomach disorder; Shortstop Lou Boudreau, an injured ankle, and Second Baseman Ray Mack, an injured foot.

For the Giants, Babe Young, up to yesterday the only player to have appeared in every exhibition, came down with a sore throat and joined Johnny Rucker on the flu squad

Doubt if Browns Return to Santone

HOUSTON, Tex., April 2 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns, en route north today, checked out of San Antonio with doubts about their return in 1942. It's no secret that the Browns' front office was dissatisfied with the attendance and the apparent unwillingness of the city fathers to provide a suitable guarantee.

JOCKEYS PAID $200 A RACE TO PULL HORSE

LOS ANGELES, April 2 (AP)—Two hundred dollars a race was the rate of pay for four jockeys to "pull" their horses at the 1939 Hollywood Park season, Irving Sangbusch told a Superior Court jury trying five men on horse race fixing charges.

Sangbusch, who said he was known to horse race men for 20 years as James J. Murphy, testified he himself received another $200 as go-between. Fixing charges against him were dropped when he became a state witness.

JOCKEY CLAMOR

He said Bernard Einstoss, alias Barney Mooney, arranged with him to bribe riders and gave him the money to pay them on 25 days of the 1939 Hollywood Park season.

On five other days, Sangbusch said, he received the money from Einstoss' brother William and from I. W. Kivel, and on one occasion, "when the jockeys were clamoring for $2500 or $3000 that was owed to them," Benjamin Chapman produced the sum.

The Einstoss brothers, Kivel and Chapman, are defendants in the trial, along with Sol Greenberg, a former jockey and trainer. The state charges the first four hired Greenberg to fix races after Sangbusch quit and told the state racing board about the alleged arrangement.

BRIBE OFFERED

Sangbusch testified he had bribed four jockeys.

"I agreed that I would line up the jockeys to 'kill' horses—keep them out of the money," he testified. "The boys were to get $200 for every race they helped to fix successfully. We decided that it didn't make any difference if all the boys were riding in the same race, we'd pay them all."

Sangbusch said that last January, after the six were indicted, Bernard Einstoss offered him $2000 to write letters repudiating his grand jury testimony and clearing the other defendants, and then leave the country.

MANLAPIG FACES O'DELL ON ARENA MAT

Pantaleon Manlapig, Filipino champion, is favored to pin Red O'Dell, former Green Dragon, when they collide in the main event of the weekly wrestling show tonight at the Arena.

Manlapig, here for better than three months, has yet to suffer a defeat in Eastern rings. He has brushed all opposition aside with comparative ease and now his guns are sighted on the Angel. A win tonight should gain that objective.

If Manlapig should take over the Angel's title, he will be the first Filipino in history to hold the crown. Several smaller men have taken boxing titles, but never has a big fellow come close to the real crown.

In a special bout, Wladyslau Talun of Poland clashes with Cowboy Govro, a rough rider from the ranges of Wyoming.

The semi-final will have Lou Plummer of Iowa against Lord Albert Mills, the Englishman; while preliminaries include Tony Jordan of Boston vs. George Linehan of Wayland and Pat Beel, now of the U. S. Navy vs. Les Ryan from New York.

MAIN BOUT
Red O'Dell vs. Pantaleon Manlapig
SEMI-FINAL
Lou Plummer vs. Cowboy Govro
SPECIAL BOUT
Wladyslau Talun vs. Lord Albert Mills
PRELIMINARIES
Tony Jordan vs. George Linnehan
Pat Beel vs. Les Ryan
First bout at 8:15.
Main event at 10.

Conn 6-1 Choice To Whip Barlund

CHICAGO, April 2 (AP)—Gunnar Barlund, durable Finnish heavyweight, will be eligible for membership in the "Bum-of-the-Month Club" if he can upset Pittsburgh Billy Conn Friday night in Chicago Stadium.

Such a triumph would qualify him to follow Gus Dorazio, Abe Simon, Tony Musto, et al., to the Joe Louis chopping block.

The 195-pound Finn, an in-and-outer for several years, is given almost no chance to get by the fancy-punching Conn, despite a 15-pound weight advantage. The betting fraternity on Randolph st. has set the miniature heavyweight up as a 6 to 1 choice over Barlund.

This fight is slated as Conn's last before his June bout with the heavyweight champion. A defeat by the Finn would doubtless eliminate the Pittsburgh fighter from the title picture for several months.

Was Damski interested in throwing Barlund in against Louis in case he wins Friday?

"Say, I never make a match for a fighter of mine if he hasn't got a chance to win," Damski explained. "Three times I have turned down a chance to match Barlund with Joe Louis. I know he has the physical requirements to give Louis a battle, but he never has been ready up here." He pointed to his head.

"Maybe he'll be ready after the fight with Conn. I don't know."

Cain, Hill Keep Bruins In Series

that he was going to put the blast on Bill Cowley as soon as he saw him.

"No wonder that Cowley was a standout," said Hill. "This center job is the softest touch of the year. I can't stay in that right lane but let me roam around and I'll show you plenty of hockey."

Suspensions for Zivic, Manager

PHILADELPHIA, April 2 (AP) The suspension of Fritzie Zivic, world's welterweight champion, and his manager, Luke Carney, by the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission was disclosed today.

Chairman Leon Rains of the commission announced the two Pittsburghers had been suspended because they refused to honor a contract for Zivic to fight Phil Furr of Washington at Convention Hall here April 21 in a non-title bout under the promotion of Phil Glassman.

The Pennsylvania commission has a working agreement with the New York State Athletic Commission.

Nova Unimpressive In Final Workout

NEW YORK, April 2 (INS) — Odds were 7 to 5 today that Lou Nova will beat former heavyweight champion Max Baer in their 12-round rumpus at Madison Sq. Garden Friday night.

Nova concluded his workouts with four rounds of boxing at a local gym yesterday, but he was none too impressive. Baer will finish his heavy work this afternoon by sparring four rounds at his Lakewood, N. J., training camp.

Ted Williams Returns As Sox Wallop Reds

DOTHAN, Ala., April 2—Scoring more runs in one inning than they had in their two previous exhibitions, our Red Sox walloped the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 4, for their third triumph in seven starts against the world's champions this spring.

The big frame was the seventh, wherein the Fenway flailers put over five markers, after two were out, at the expense of Whit "Lefty" Guise, who had gone to the Reds' slab at the start of the frame.

Other features of this tilt, which attracted 1614 cash customers, were the return of Ted Williams to the Sox lineup, as a pinch hitter and the return of Jim Tabor to the Red Sox bastile as a stubborn child.

Always the Hose were ahead in this contest after they had hopped on Monte Pearson for two tallies in the opening stanza. But they saw an erstwhile four-run lead reduced to one run in the first of the seventh when Billy Werber hit a two-run homer over the left field wall.

CRONIN BATS TWICE

Then they went to work.

Jimmy Foxx and Skipper Cronin were robbed of hits by Harry Craft in center. But the champs couldn't make the third out until Cronin, up for the second time, flied again to Craft.

Doerr ignited the fireworks with a walk. Sammy Hale, playing third in place of Problem-Child Tabor, duplicated Werber's feat of parking a drive over the left field parapet. Pytlak walked, Bill Fleming singled, so did DiMag and Finney. Five runs was the result.

Jack Wilson, left behind in Sarasota while his mates were barnstorming in Cuba, opened in the Boston box and went great guns for six innings. He gave up only five hits and a walk. Yielding a run in the first, when Werber doubled and Mike McCormick singled, Black Jack went on to pitch scoreless ball until the sixth, when his supporting cast made the Rhinelanders a gift of another marker.

FINNEY'S BAT HOT

Roskie Fleming, making his first appearance on the hill in two weeks, finished up. He was combed for five blows and two walks in three chapters but escaped damage, except when he threw the aforementioned home-run ball to Werber.

Pearson, starting for the Reds, found he couldn't loosen up and begged off at the close of the frame. Junior Thompson relieved him to be found for four hits and three runs in the next five frames.

Lou Finney, with three bingles, fired the heaviest ammunition as the Cronin clouters staged a 14-hit attack to which only Jimmy Foxx and Williams failed to contribute at least one blow.

Bill Werber collected a homer, double and single for three of the Reds nine hits and also chipped in with two of the three errors charged against the McKechnie men. The only Boston miscue was a bad throw by Hale, who otherwise played a steady game at the hot corner.

Plan Tribute To Naismith

SPRINGFIELD, April 2 (INS)—"The game with peach baskets" is half a century old.

International celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of basketball is to be held during the 1941-1942 season, it was announced today.

In honor of Dr. James A. Naismith, founder of the game, the year-long celebration is being planned by the Naismith memorial committee, headed by Mayor Roger L. Putnam. The celebration is to open December, 1941, and close December, 1942.

Dr. Naismith, in December, 1891, fastened beach baskets to the gymnasium railing and established the first rules of basketball at the International Young Men's Christian Ass'n Training School, now Springfield College.

A campaign to raise funds to erect a memorial to Dr. Naismith, to be known as the "Temple of Basketball," is under way. Springfield College classmates of Dr. Naismith—the class of 1892—have pledged the first $1000 for the memorial. A basketball "hall of fame" is also planned for the "temple."

IN TOMORROW'S RECORD or AMERICAN

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

AT THE GARDEN with the amateurs . . . Rodey O'Dooley, Irish heavyweight from Steamboat, Col., has a better left hand than most of the amateurs . . . O'Dooley received a bad break when he suffered a gash over one of his eyes in his first trial bout, but he refused to quit, won his next trial match from Tim Heffernan, and was in there tossing leather in the semi-finals last night.

Lou Smith, boss of Rockingham Park, sitting in the press row next to Sargeant Eddie Mack . . . Lou taking time out to tell of the days when he managed "Yankee" Swartz who boxed in all parts of the world . . . Mack trying to keep his Santa Anita sunburn by keeping his head close to the ring lights.

U. S. District Attorney Edmond J. Brandon and a party of friends watching the amateurs from ringside seats . . . Mike Conroy of the Irish American A. A. saying a few kind words about every Celtic boxer that crawled through the ropes to give battle.

Tommy Moyer of Portland, Oregon, giving a blazing exhibition of boxing . . . Moyer was an All-America champion at San Francisco a year ago last January . . . Al Sandell rating Moyer as one of the best amateurs developed on the West Coast in recent years . . . George Freeman regretting that an eye injured suffered in the Golden Gloves finals in Chicago made it impossible for Lester McGowan, flashy Buffalo bantamweight, to toss leather in the nationals.

Johnny Ford, pro at the Blue Hill Country Club, trying to pick winners at the ringside . . . Johnny says the golfers will tee off at the Blue Hill Country Club on April 19 . . . State Auditor Tom Buckley forgetting about his political opponents as he cheered for New England's ring champions.

Move for Regional Bouts Wins Favor

GENE DRISCOLL'S move for regional championships, which would send their winners to the nationals, is winning favor with A. A. U. delegates . . . It would mean that 72 instead of 150 boxers will start competing in a title tournament . . . The affair would take two rather than three nights, and it would bring together the class of the simon pures.

Ben Levias of the New England A. A. U. registration committee remarking upon the high caliber of the show . . . Ben devotes most of his energies promoting skating carnivals, swimming events and track contests, but has a keen interest in boxing . . . Rodey O'Dooley telling Johnny Buckley he may decide to locate in Boston in view of the great popularity of Irish and Irish-American boxers in this city.

Harry Kelley rooting for Tony Peppi to win in the 112-pound class . . . Kelley declaring that Henry Chmielewski's injured optic is healing rapidly, and that the former New England middleweight champion may meet Coley Welsh in a return title bout in Portland.

Eddie Powers of the Garden forces declaring that the Ice Follies was one of the most successful promotions of the indoor season, and declaring that the return performances will also do well . . . Two-minute rounds speeded up the trial bouts and gave the fans more action . . . In the semi-final and finals tonight, the boxers will blaze away at each other in three-minute rounds.

Al Demont, one of the greatest bantamweight boxers to ever represent this city, standing in the rear of the Garden as the simon pures tossed blows . . . Doc Almy, who covered amateur boxing shows back in the days when he often found it necessary to brush the hair out of his eyes, whacking his portable with the enthusiasm of a cub reporter as he depicted the happenings in the ring.

Olympics Hot Favorites in Washington

HOCKEY ENTHUSIASTS discussing the Olympics, and declaring that local hockey club is a tremendous Washington favorite . . . Due to the fact players give action and are American boys . . . Still believe that more American youngsters should be given an opportunity to try for berths in the National Hockey League . . . Frankie Brimsek for one has done all right . . . Others would duplicate Brimsek's success if given a chance to show their ice class.

Numerous clergymen of all denominations at ringside . . . Amateur boxing has as fine a following as a college football game . . . Boxers resting on rubbing tables back in the dressing rooms as they waited for calls to return to action . . . Three nights of boxing is one of the most severe of athletic tests . . . Especially for those youngsters who experience trouble keeping at weight.

Henry Lamar, Harvard boxing coach and a first class professional boxer in his own right a dozen years ago, has been taking in the amateurs . . . Lamar handled Johnny Bullitt in the trial bouts . . . A Harvard boxer who could come into professional boxing behind a roaring punch could make as much money as Jack Dempsey did when champion . . . The average college student does not give boxing sufficient time to make a success of it . . . The kids who come up from the street corners still make the best fighters . . . Perhaps they are hungrier for the nice things of life and are determined to punch their way to them.

In another year you will see scores of Army and Navy boxers in every major amateur boxing tournament . . . Boxing is the top sport with the men in service.

See you at the Garden again tonight.

5 BAY STATE FIGHTERS KEEP PACE TO ENTER NATIONAL SEMI-FINALS

By RINGSIDE

Massachusetts' boxing team established itself as a definite threat for a share of the National A. A. U. championships, when the five standard-bearers who came through in the trials Monday, fought their way into the semi-finals before 4000 at the Garden.

Tony Peppi, North End 112-pounder; Tony DeGregorio, West End 118-pounder; Francis Leonard, Taunton 126-pounder; Dave Andrews, Lowell 147-pounder, and Jimmy Mulligan, Lowell 160-pounder, came through unscatched.

It was an action-packed fight carnival, with rounds of two-minute duration speeding up the contestants considerably.

The outstanding mitt-wielder on the local aggregation was Jimmy Mulligan, for the second straight night, when he fought a bristling three-rounder with Vincent Myers of Seminole, Okla., that had the crowd standing on their seats.

Myers proved to be a smart, fast-moving middleweight, and he led the fight to Mulligan early in the first round, only to realize his mistake when Jimmy caught him coming in with a jarring left uppercut to the jaw that made his knees wobble.

LEONARD DRAWS TARTAR

The second round was a fish-pier brawl, with blood pouring from Myers' nose and Mulligan suffering a gash over his nose and a cut in his left ear, as they traded leather with reckless abandon.

The final canto found Mulligan pressing his advantage, bringing up solid thumps to the head and working on his adversary's body with a two-fisted attack to earn a popular decision.

Francis Leonard drew down a rough and ready opponent in Nick Trujillo, Denver, Col. featherweight. Right from the opening bell the terror of Taunton took the lead and despite the fact Trujillo dealt out plenty of leather, he couldn't quite cope with the experience and hitting ability of the local lad.

Tony Peppi had a tough time staving off the final rush of Earl O'Neil, Seminole, Okla. 112-pounder, but the commanding lead he had built up, by catching his spunky rival coming in with short, hard punches to the jaw, captured the eye of the officials.

In a wide-open fray, Dave Andrews, Lowell's "Golden Boy," disposed of Lynch Travis, Greenwood, Miss., welterweight. Travis did plenty of shaping up but was a trifle shy on the actual business of fighting and Dave won it with plenty to spare.

O'DOOLEY IDOL OF FANS

Tony DeGregorio, West End bantamweight, who has only been fighting for a short while, proved a genuine crowd-pleaser when he uncorked looping lefts, fighting from the portside and defeated Raymond Garobito, Stockton, Cal., in a gruelling three-rounder.

The outstanding performer on the program was Rodie O'Dooley, Steamboat Spring, Col., heavyweight, who the fans have adopted as their favorite.

Rodie looked terrific, scoring a technical kayo in three rounds over Archie Smith of Memphis, Tenn. Smith was willing and able and the pair turned in a hair-hoisting slugging bee.

After being belted around by his chunky opponent in the first frame, O'Dooley came back like a champion and poured on plenty of punishment, landing vicious lefts and beautiful right-hand uppercuts that forced Smith all over the ring.

In the third, Archie proved he was game to the core when he took everything Rodie handed him and made attempts to put across looping punches in a desperate try to stave off defeat. When it was apparent he could take no more, Referee Tom Kirby wisely intervened and stopped the fight.
